Charleston firm awarded trash contract

The City Council Tuesday night awarded the citywide trash collection contract to C and T Solid Waste of Charleston.

The council was unable to give final approval for a $600,000 bond issue to be on the November ballot because the resolution had not arrived from the bonding attorneys.

The council approved two liquor by the drink licenses and received five other license requests for sale of alcoholic beverages.

Additional funds to the park board were approved to cover expenses for the year. All bids were rejected for a new police car for the detectives.

C and T had submitted the low bid in September. The contract was awarded after an investigation was completed by City Manager Charles Church into the company and its ability to fulfil the contract.

Church said C and T, which is owned by James Carlisle of Charleston, has the equipment necessary to provide service, including two trucks on order. Church said the trucks are in stock at a dealer's in St. Louis and are available for immediate delivery.

Before the contract can be signed, Carlisle must put up a performance bond of $75,000.

Trash collection will begin Jan. 1, 1975 and the $2.75 monthly fee will be collected on the city water bill.

The collection is for residential areas only. Businesses will have to make their own arrangements.

Church issued a statement clarifying city policy on what can be burned in the city. He said there has been some confusion over what can be burned in the city and what cannot.

Until Jan. 1, "the city encourages residential homeowners to stop burning and use available collectors for disposal of solid waste," the policy reads.

"Burning of leaves and twigs will be permitted now and after Jan. 1 as long as they originate on the property on which they will be burned. The city will respond to rubbish burning complaints and request the individual responsible for the fire to eliminate the nuisance and control the fire properly."

After Jan. 1, there will be twice-a-week trash pickups, and the trash must be in containers of 20 gallons to 35 gallons and may not weigh more than 75 pounds.

There will be no limit on the number of containers nor on the amount of bundled limbs. The bundles may not exceed 48 inches in length or 18 inches in diameter, according to Church.

Burning will be prohibited except in incinerators approved by the Missouri Division of Health," he said.

The policy then lists the following exceptions to the burning band ceremonial fires, leaves twigs and vegetation originating on the land on which it is burned; burning of trees, tree trunks, and tree limbs resulting from land clearing operation as long as such operations take place at least 200 yard from the nearest dwelling; fires set for the purpose of instructing and training firemen; and fires set in connection with agricultural or forestry operations related to growing of harvesting crops.

BOND ISSUE

The ordinance approving a $600,000 bond issue for a new water treatment plant did not arrive from the city's bonding attorney and will have to be considered at 4 p.m. Thursday.

The bond issue will be on the November general election ballot.

One reason for the delay in receiving the ordinance was and inconsistency in the names of city voting wards. The city has referred to the wards and precincts by number, but the County Court has recently changed the numbers to names.

The council will probably agree to the change. Ward One, precinct one, will become Park precinct; Ward one, precinct two will be airport precinct; Ward two, precinct one, will be Allen precinct; Ward two precinct two, Sunset precinct; Ward three, precinct one, Delmar precinct; Ward three, precinct two, Clayton precinct; Ward four, precinct one, Armory precinct, and Ward four, precinct two, Broadway precinct.

POLICE CAR

The council rejected all bids for a new police car for the detectives after Goza Harper Motor Co. 225 E. Malone Ave., submitted a revised bid that was $6 lower than the previous low bid.

The revised bid was apparently submitted after Goza- Harper discovered what the lowest bid was, according to city officials.

The original bids were Goza Harper, $4,000; Jarvis Motor Co, $4,170; Sikeston Motor Co., $3,945.

PARK BOARD

The council approved a request from the park board for an additional appropriation of $8,210 to carry the board through this budget year. The funds will come out of the city contingency fund.

The board needed the funds to buy a new truck for $5,230 from Cooney Equipment Co., and number of other expenses not planned for.

Park Board Chairman Ernest Wilson told the council the board will need an extra $100,000 to maintain the new 140-acre city recreational complex next year.

Wilson said he was basing his estimate on the current cost of $47,000 for maintaining 70 acres of city parks.

Interchange study now under way

The Missouri State Highway Department is doing a cost- usage study to see if the proposed interchange at Interstate 55 and Route HH is feasible, according to Lionel T. Murray, District 10 engineer for the State Highway Department.

Murray made the statement today at a meeting with local representatives at the highway department building.

At the meeting were Charles Church, city manager; Frank Ferrell, mayor; Bill Wellborn, executive director of the Chamber of Commerce; Allen Blanton, Sikeston Industrial Development Corp. board member and Charles Mitchell, SIDC real estate advisor.

Murray said the intersection would probably be funded with State Highway Department money and would be in competition with other highway projects.

When asked what chance the intersection had of being built, Murray replied that if it didn't have a chance the work being done now would not have progressed as far as it has.

Murray said if the State highway department releases a negative report, local representatives can request a hearing with the State Highway Commission.

If the commission approves the project, it will be built, Murray said.

Both Wellborn and Church said it would be important for the city to present detailed information to the highway commission and said they would welcome any help from community citizens interested in the intersection project.

Garrison maintains innocence

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of a three- part series dealing with an investigation by Daily Standard State Editor Ron Jaynes and Special Correspondent Mark Geers into the brutal murder of Lee Ann Garrison. Today's article centers on an exclusive interview with Dr. Norman Asa Garrison Jr., the accused killer.)

ASHLAND, Miss. — Successful young professional men -- doctors, lawyers and executives -- are often characterized by an aura of comfortable self-assurance. They achieve success easily, almost effortlessly, it seems. Secure in the knowledge of their position and aware of their worth in the community, they are at ease in any situation.

"Garry" was once one of these secure young men, but now his aura, like his world, is crumbling around the edges. His blue eyes are clouded with the haunted look a man gets when his world is coming apart, and he doesn't know why.

"Garry" is Dr. Norman Asa Garrison Jr. He has been accused of murdering his former wife, Lee Ann Garrison, on Sept. 8 in Kennett, Mo.

Dunklin County Prosecuting Attorney Charles H. Baker filed charges of first degree murder against Dr. Garrison a few hours after Mrs. Garrison's oldest daughter found her mother's shot and brutally beaten body in the bedroom of their fashionable home a month ago today.

Lee Ann Garrison

Baker has not divulged any evidence linking Dr. Garrison to the murder, but Dunklin County Sheriff Raymond Scott has announced a portion of the evidence the Dunklin County authorities possess.

In a press release two weeks ago, the sheriff reported a plastic "surgeon's glove" and part of a pistol handle, both of which were bloody, had been found.

In addition, Scott reported that the authorities had found a bloody fingerprint on the chain- link fence surrounding the back yard of the Garrison residence.

Scott said his investigators had taken the print in the same manner they take any other: "dust it, tape it and put in on the card." He also said the print was taken from what he described as "fresh blood."

Garrison's attorneys have expressed doubts about this point, stating that a bloody print could not be dusted and taped and lifted properly.

One item of evidence the prosecuting attorney has refused to release is the autopsy report. In fact, Baker refuses even to discuss the report, saying it would not be proper for him to comment at this time on evidence in the case.

Presumably, the authorities believe the report contains some especially damaging evidence against the doctor and are saving it for a later date.

Dunklin County authorities have also stated that blood found at the scene of the crime was of the same type as Dr. Garrison's.

There is some confusion at this point, also. Earlier in the investigation, the blood was identified as being of a third type, a type possessed neither by the doctor nor his late former wife. The county authorities now deny that the blood was identified as a third type.

Early in the investigation, the authorities claimed to have found a witness who saw Dr. Garrison in Kennett about 3 p.m. on the day of the murder. Supposedly, the doctor was seen driving a blue Corvette around town a few hours after his ex-wife's body was found.

The doctor has maintained throughout the investigation, "I was not in Kennett. I was on a friend's houseboat that night. I didn't even hear of Lee Ann's death until a little after 3 o'clock that afternoon."

At that time, he says a former patient in Kennett called him and told him of his former wife's death.

Curiously, the former patient is supposed to have talked to the doctor in a long- distance telephone call from Kennett to Corinth sometime after 3 p.m., which is approximately the same time the alleged witness claimed to have seen Dr. Garrison in Kennett.

"I didn't murder my wife," Garrison continued "and I did not hire anyone to murder her, either. I did not conspire with anyone to have it done!" As Garrison spoke, his voice remained soft and even. No one else in the room made a sound as we all sat watching him intently.

One of Dr. Garrison's lawyers, John B. Farese Sr., said he asked Garrison to submit to a lie detector test after he had entered the case.

"I wanted to satisfy myself that the doctor was telling me the truth," Farese said.

"The polygraph examiner that I hired to conduct the test is one of the best men in his field. I've retained him

Sales tax proposal won't be on ballot

The drive to bring a city sales tax proposition to the voters in the November general election has run out of time, according to Mayor Frank Ferrell.

Ferrell said the Citizens Advisory Committee, which was asked to draw up a list of priorities for the sales tax, was unable to complete its work in time. The committee has held only one meeting.

The city will probably hold a special election on the proposal in early spring, Ferrell said.

The city began considering the sales tax after it became apparent that present city revenue would not be able to supply the city the funds it needs.

A statement at the City Council meeting Tuesday night by Park Board chairman Ernest Wilson estimating it would take another $100,000 a year to maintain the new 140- acre recreational complex is another indication that the city needs more money.

Ferrell said he thought Wilson's estimate was probably too high, Council John Houchin said income from the concession stand would pay part of the maintenance costs.

Still, Ferrell said, the cost to the city of maintaining the new park will be high.

The city needs the sales tax, he added.

Ferrell was not on the City Council when the decision to build the complex was made, but he said he thought if those councilmen had known the cost of the complex and the expense of maintaining it, they "would have taken a closer look at it."

Tempers flare over road

BENTON — Tempers flared Monday between Members of the Scott County Court and Wes Schlosser of Oran when he appeared before the court to complain about a road he charged the court with failing to maintain.

According to Schlosser, the court blacktopped the road — located seven miles west of Oran approximately four years ago and promised to maintain it, but has not done so.

In protesting the maintenance of the road, Schlosser said he had also been informed that the court was going to install a culvert across the road which would cause water to flood other farm land.

The judges informed Schlosser that they had no intention of doing this and didn't know where he could have heard such information.

Schlosser told the judges that he had called them several times concerning the road, and his calls had never been returned. "I have put over $1,000 in the road and haven't received any good out of it, and other people who have not put any money in it are receiving the benefits," Schlosser said.

Schlosser then stated that if something is not done about the road now, it will be worthless this winter.

"I don't want to be mad at the court but things are just not going right," Schlosser asserted.

Second District Associate Judge Louie Hirschowitz told Schlosser that some people have been waiting as long as 10 years for work on roads and nothing had been done.

Schlosser said he had appeared before the court once before and was told not to come back in with that type of junk again. The three judges denied the statement, and Presiding Judge Les Lankford stated, "I wouldn't talk to anyone that way."

Schlosser remarked that if a culvert is installed across the road, it would be for the benefit of a certain individual whose name he would not mention, and he told the judges he would take court action if it is installed.

Schlosser said he had appeared before the court at least five times concerning the road and nothing had been done, yet the judges could not remember their conversations with him.

"I wish I had brought a tape recorder with me when I talked with you on previous occasions... if I had this would be another Benton Watergate," Schlosser declared.

The judges told Schlosser they would review the situation.

Juveniles arrested in series of thefts

Two juveniles have been arrested and three more arrests are expected today in connection with a series of thefts in Sikeston over the past two months, according to Scott County Deputy Sheriff Gerald Inman.

Inman said the juveniles were arrested Monday night and three others are expected to be arrested after school today.

The juveniles are all between 11 and 16 years old, Inman said.

The break-ins involved the sheltered workshop at the airport, a truck at Terminix International, 1623 E. Malone Ave., the Old Ferrell License Bureau, batteries from a house on Kentucky Road, two tires from Sonny Presley Chevrolet, 127 W. Center St., and tools from a truck parked at the Kay Apartments on West Kathleen Street.

The sheltered workshop has been broken into five times in the past five weeks. The latest breakin was Saturday or Sunday when $5 in change was taken from a soft drink machine.

Inman said not all the victims were aware of the thefts. He said the investigation was still continuing in the thefts.

Burglars hit soft drink machine

Burglars took $15 from a soft drink machine inside Goza-Harper Motor Co., 225 E. Malone Ave., between 6 p.m. Sunday and 7:30 a.m. Monday, police reported today.

Police said the burglars apparently got into the building by breaking a window and unlocking a door.

Car stolen from tavern

Donald Presley, 133 S. Stoddard St., told police his 1963 Ford Falcon was stolen sometime last Thursday while parked at the Wagon Wheel tavern, 849 W. Malone Ave.

Presley reported the theft Monday.

Warning system installed

A disaster warning system using special radios has been installed in Scott County schools, hospitals and small communities, according to Glenn Greene, Scott County Civil Defense Director.

Greene said the radios are tone alert receivers similar to the kind the fire department uses to notify volunteers of a fire.

A total of 33 units have been installed at a cost of $5,500.

Greene said the radios will be activated in the event of a national or natural disaster.

"Our main concerns in Scott County are tornadoes, tornado warning alerts or flash floods," Greene said.

He said using the radio will reduce the time needed to notify schools, hospitals and towns. Formerly, the warnings were issued over the telephone.

The radios are activated from a base station in the office of Scott County Sheriff John Dennis in Benton. In the event of a power failure there, Greene can activate the radios from his car.

Greene said the radios operate on both AC and DC power and are battery equipped.

Federal civil defense funds paid for half the cost of the radios, the other half was paid by the recipient of the radios, Greene said.

Warning unit is portable

Scott County Civil Defense Director Glenn Greene switches on the mobile control center for the county wide civil defense warning system. The radio can be used in event of a power failure at the Scott County Sheriff's office in Benton.

THE CONCEPTION
OF AMERICA

If America was born in 1776, it was conceived sometime between September 1 and October 26, 1774, at the First Continental Congress in Philadelphia. It was here, in Carpenter's Hall, that the colonial fathers came to the agreement to work together, and fight if necessary, in united opposition to the tyranny of King George and General Gage.

Not that all of the great ideas which sprang from the Convention were entirely new. The tide of rebellion had been swelling for a long time. The Stamp Act had been a bone of contention since 1665. British tea had been dumped into Boston harbor by the "indians" in 1773. The slogan, "United we conquer, divided we die" had been a watchword for more than six years; now it was simply updated to: UNITED WE STAND, DIVIDED WE FALL.

They were all there; Patrick Henry, Peyton Randolph (who was elected President), Charles Thompson (who was elected Secretary), Sam Adams and his younger cousin, John; George Washington, and from New Hampshire, John Sullivan, who could not have imagined then that he was to be a major general under Washington in a bitter revolutionary war;Samuel Ward of Rhode Island, John Jay of New York, and Christopher Gadsden of South Carolina .. great men, all.

Not that the Congress was easy sailing. Many grave problems had to be faced for the first time in history. There was debate over the matter of "one man, one vote." The issue was decided when Patrick Henry declared: "The distinctions between Virginians, Pennsylvanians, New Yorkers and New Englanders are no more. I am not a Virginian, but an American." It was one colony, one vote.

Nor was it at all easy for the delegates to turn against the mother country, no matter how grievious the provocations. Each step in that direction was taken reluctantly, and not without agony of heart and conscience. The meetings dragged on, the debates were long. Impetuous John Adams complained that the delegates were "fearful, timid, skittish ... one-third Tory, one-third Whig, one-third mongrel."

If there was any one time in the convention that might be termed a turning point, it was when Paul Revere arrived at a gallop, having been delegated by Joseph Warren to rush from Boston to Philadelphia "with all speed" with a copy of the Suffolk Resolves, just adopted by the Sons of Liberty in Massachusetts. The Resolves stated flatly "that no obedience is due from this Province to ... the recent acts of Parliament, but that they should be rejected as the attempts of a wicked administration to enslave America." Further, patriots were to "acquaint themselves with the art of war as soon as possible, and ... appear under arms at least once a week."

The Suffolk Resolves were unanimously adopted by the Continental Congress on September 18, 1774.

The colonies were ready to bring forth a new nation.

CURTIS CAVE-IN

If Thomas B. Curtis is not trying to inject the issue of mental health in Missouri's U. S. Senate campaign, then he is doing an excellent imitation of one doing exactly that. The Republican candidate saw to it this week that the mental health of Senator Thomas F. Eagleton did become an issue, despite disclaimers from Curtis that no such intent was planned.

When he conferred earlier in the campaign with this newspaper, Curtis said on his own volition that he did not intend to discuss Senator Eagleton's mental health history, stating he did not believe it was relevant to issues that were far more important to the state's voters. We accepted Curtis at his word, for we believed him to be an honorable man who would not permit the innuendos of poor mental health of his opponent to mar his long and distinguished political history.

What has occurred in recent days, however, raises more questions about Curtis than it does about Eagleton.

First, Curtis took the trouble to reply to a letter which was critical of his campaign, written to him by a woman living in the St. Louis area. That he took the time to respond to such a letter during his hectic schedule raises some questions about Curtis' real intent in answering the complaint.

Not content with simply mailing the letter to the woman who had inquired about his campaign tactics, Curtis made certain that some newspapers received copies of his reply. Interestingly, this newspaper did not receive a copy of the letter written to Curtis.

Curtis could have acted without the knowledge that at least one political writer in the state, who has been advising him to make Eagleton's mental history an issue in the campaign, would not act upon what he had written. Slipping his response to this particular writer was certain to trigger publicity.

We agree with Senator Eagleton that perhaps no candidate below the presidency has had his health, mental or physical, more widely discussed, debated and inspected. The mark of mental health, unlike that of physical health, is the ability of the person to function in society, to perform his or her job in a responsibile, normal pattern of behavior. This is the criteria exercised by psychiatrists and psychologists. Senator Eagleton meets this criteria quite admirably, functioning effectively and well, within and without the halls of the U. S. Senate. As a first term Senator, he has compiled an admirable record of representing his constituency, has authored a vast number of important bills, has served as chairman of a Senate committee and numerous subcommittees, has visited the state an inordinate number of times to visit with Missourians and keep his political fences mended, and has even found time to write a book. Despite this gruelling schedule, the Senate at the Truman Day Rally at Poplar Bluff was, empirically speaking, in excellent mental health.

As almost everyone in the nation knows, Senator Eagleton was hospitalized on three occasions for depression, a not- uncommon syndrome that attacks persons who lead gruelling schedules and take few precautions to lead a balanced life. On two or three occasions when he was hospitalized, Eagleton entered on his own volition following gruelling state- wide education conference. Since that time, more than eight years ago, he has developed a different life style, has learned to pace himself in a more acceptable manner, and has relied on others to perform some of the duties of the world.

Curtis says that Eagleton's non-discussion of the issue is "unfair to George McGovern." Gee, that's more concern about McGovern than we have seen expressed by anyone except his verbose wife in two years. We were not aware that Curtis had grown so fond of the Dakota Senator, his dubious political views and the integrity of good old George. As far as we're concerned the only fair thing for George McGovern is a defeat at the polls next month in his home state. Maybe Curtis would like to endorse McGovern in his race for the Senate; George certainly doesn't have many Democrats supporting him these days.

We're disappointed in Tom Curtis. His standing in the pre-election polls is disastrously low, and this latest tactic does not enhance his reputation. It will not, we predict, enhance his standing at the polls either.

We believed Curtis when he said the past mental health of Tom Eagleton was not going to be an issue in this race as far as he was concerned. We feel betrayed because we believed Tom Curtis to be an honorable man, a man of his word, a man of solid conviction.

This latest Curtis tactic doesn't do much for our political mental health at all.

HOW MUCH MORE
MUST THEY PAY?

It is difficult to understand the reasoning behind a recent decision by the U. S. Supreme Court upholding a California law that bars felons who have completed their sentences from voting in state and local elections.

If the purpose of the penal system is not merely to punish but to rehabilitate lawbreakers and return them to society as useful citizens, denying them one of the most basic rights of citizenship even after they have served their time would seem to defeat that purpose.

This is not rehabilitation but a continuation of punishment.

We hear much about the dehumanizing aspects of prison life. But the overwhelming majority of inmates in the nation's penal institutions will not be there permanently. There is a constant turnover as men are parolled and others take their places. Unfortunately, many of those entering prison have been there before, and will be there again.

This suggests that there is something wrong not only with our prisons but with our postprison treatment of those who have supposedly "paid their debt" to society.

In any event, it is hard to see how society would be injured by permitting an ex-convict to cast a ballot for local dog- catcher or mayor or even the judge who sent him up in the first place and, according to the odds, may send him up again.

AN AMERICAN
ANSWER

Even the most virulent critics of American medicine are slow to question the medical competence of U.S. physicians. The issue appears mainly to be how to deliver that competence to the most people at the lowest possible cost.

Many of the most vociferous critics take the simplest and most demagogic approach. They advodate a monolithic national health insurance program at a cost of some $60 billion. In a very real sense, this country already has national health insurance of a kind that can be meshed with developing government health care programs and still avoid obliterating the principles of voluntarism and the private practice of medicine. A statement on national health policy prepared by the largest private organization for the financing of medical services in the country reviews the broad and complex problems of health and health care delivery in the United States. On the matter of financing health care, it says, "... the objectives of a national program for better health can best be met, to the extent that they require financing of personal health services, through underwritten coverage. This should be purchased by government from private carriers on behalf of the poor and the medically indigent. The medically indigent should participate, on a scale compatible with their resources, in the costs of their coverage ... to achieve the most efficient use of the public funds available ... A realistic system of qualification of carriers should be developed, based upon their ability to serve the reasonable needs and expectations of the public ..."

Instead of copying the failures of other nations in the field of national health insurance, the U. S. should capitalize upon the unique asset of a voluntary insurance program that is already established. This the American answer to an American problem.

LEADING THE WAY

Mr. C. Howard Hardesty, Jr., executive vice president of the Continental Oil Company, feels it is up to business to present in every manner possible the great truths that have made our country the most productive and the most advanced of any land in all of recorded history He strikes hard at what he defines as "antipreneurs" which are the antithesis of entrepreneurs -- builders, creators, developers of the new and untried.

Mr. Hardesty says, "'Antipreneurs' -- single - minded, persistent, and totally myopic critics of businessmen" have converted the United States "from a nation that once respected initiative and economic achievement, that honored the rags - to - riches hero, to a nation that imputes to its businessmen the most venal motives an;most despicable conduct, that is coming to idolize the reverse - twist, riches - to - rags anti-hereo.' As Mr. Hardesty points out, critics of business and industry should be required to operate under the same ground rules and laws of disclosure and accuracy to which businessmen are subjected. One of the reasons the nation faces an energy shortage is public confusion caused by those who apparently see an ulterior motive in every effort of oil companies to broaden and strengthen the energy base of the nation.

Mr. Hardesty concludes by emphasizing that industry must open up its knowledge and experience to young Americans. "It's our job," he says, "to give them a true insight into what goes on and the good things the muckraker ignores. One fact is clear -- the world is changing and society has the right to expect us to lead and not follow."

OUR SCHOOLS

Our public schools and universities and colleges are well under way in the new fall semester, equipping our young citizens for their future roles of leadership and work. The products of these institutions of learning determine the future of the nation and so it is right for adults to take a hard look at the school systems in their communities to see what can be done to help the educational process. Of paramount importance is the selection, by ballot, of energetic leaders to sit on school boards, for it is here that vital policies are set.

It is also appropriate to survey the national problem of school busing. We now see disturbances at the schools in the North just as we once witnessed them in the early days of integration in the South. Violence is not compatible with good education. Neither is the cross-town busing of children.

Strong, definitive action by the Congress is needed to correct the abuses that school busing across town creates. Children should be educated at the schools in their nieghborhoods. A high court decision limiting busing across district lines does not go far enough. Busing creates a dangerous traffic threat and it should be eliminated except in rural areas where children must be brought in by common carriers.

Now is the time to get our children at the desks in the school houses closest to home. The U.S. Congress will yield to public opinion in this vital matter if enough pressure is put on the legislators. HLH

WHERE ARE THEY NOW?

WASHINGTON -- Less than a year ago everyone was hard at work vowing to conserve fuel. Americans had pledged themselves to finding new ways of saving energy and making the United States self-sufficient when it came to oil.

In the interests of finding out what has been done in the past 12 months, I did a personal "Where Are They Now?" research project.

This is what I found.

C. Carruthers Ringold, chairman of the board of General Chrysford, the largest manufacturer of automobiles, is still in Detroit pushing the sales of large cars.

When he was reminded he promised last fall that General Chrysford would devote its efforts to the production of small cars that would not consume so much gasoline, Ringold replied, "No one is going to tell us what kind of automobiles to make. The profits are in the large cars and that's what the public wants. When America wants small cars we'll make them. If it wasn't for the environmental nuts, there would be more than enough gasoline for everybody."

Alan K. Lomitil, who was one of the first organizers of car pooling in Fairfax County, Va., is now driving to work alone. "Car pooling is a drag," Alan told me. "Who wants to talk to four other guys every morning? I think a man's automobile is his castle and there is no reason he should share it with anybody else."

Mrs. Helen Klinger, the principal of PS 145, said that she no longer believed in keeping the thermostate in her school down at 68. "We froze our tushies off last year," she told me, "and we don't intend to do it again. Congress ought to investigage the oil and gas companies and find out where the heat is (ital) really (unital) going. Heavens knows the schools aren't getting any of it."

Gaylord Prather, the advertising account executive for Windfall of New Mexico Gasoline Co., is still turning out copy, but the conservation campaign has been abandoned. "Since our business is selling gasoline, it's counterproductive to ask people to use less of it. Sure it didn't hurt last year to say we were worried about future fuel supplies and we were doing everything to see that America would never have to do without. But I'll tell you one thing, the campaign didn't sell a gallon of gas. If anything, it scared people and they didn't care what brand of gasoline they bought. So we said the hell with it -- the company has to come first."

Congressman Gunther Zilch, who led the fight for energy conservation last February, is not sure whether he's for it now. "This is an election year," Zilch told me, "and it's hardly the time to ask people to make sacrifices. Heaven knows the voter has enough to worry about without asking him to give up the comforts of home and the road."

I went over to the Department of Transportation and spoke to one of the top officials. "Last year you people said you were going to have a crash program in mass urban transportation so people would use buses and trains again instead of private cars. Are you still going ahead with it?" He replied, "Yes, we're doing a study on it right now and it should be ready by 1985."

Prof. Heinrich Applebaum who last year predicted that shale oil would solve all our problems for the next 500 years now has doubts about it. "That stuff is really hard," Applebaum said. "I mean squeezing oil out of a rock is some stupid way of getting fuel. Anyone who thinks we're going to solve our energy problems with shale oil in the near future is off his rocker. I don't know why the press takes people like me seriously."

Inside Cabinet Room: National Labor Chiefs 'Amazed' By Ford's 'Naive' Anti- Inflation Strategy

WASHINGTON — To some of the powerful labor chiefs, business tycoons and bankers who sat around the Cabinet Room last Thursday afternoon, (10/3) it just didn't all seem quite real. The good and genial Jerry Ford appeared to have leapfrogged back one presidential generation to Lyndon Johnson's passion for turning out the White House lights to save money.

One participant at this first national Labor- Management Committee conference with the President, departed thinking that the "unclobberable Mr. Ford" had a naive streak in him as big as his heart. And you've got to have heart. Another conferee said ruefully the President is "big on the storm window thing." Get the citizenry to fight the oil shortage by sealing up the cracks to prevent the warmth from seeping out.

President Ford saw the big energy counteroffensive as a sort of vast consumer crusade -- enrollment of the citizenry in a drive to decrease their demand for oil. The tough, cynical broad- spectrumed national leaders on the committee who talked with him and three of his economic strategists, Bob Hartmann, Bill Seidman and Bill Simon, were amazed by the performance. Very sincere. But no realism.

They had come expecting hard- nosed talk. At 3 p.m. they "organized" themselves. Harvard's truly brilliant Dean John Dunlop, as "Neutral Coordinator," the magic mediator, directed them. At 3:30 in came President Ford. He chaired the session.

Rarely has there been such camaraderie. The lions were sitting down with the White House lambs – labor chief George Meany, steel corporation spokesman Heath Larry, banker Walter Wriston, newcomer lawyer- labor leader of the men's clothing union, Murray Finley, et al. Men who deal daily in swift decisions. (The Teamsters didn't show.)

But none were made Thursday afternoon. The President said he was glad to see them, asked them for input and then spoke of what best is described as a big public relations push on the energy and inflation fronts.

For example, the administration thought it would be a great idea to fight inflation with propaganda buttons. "I'm an Inflation Fighter" legend pinned to the lapel or dress front. Gently some of the labor men didn't quite agree. They wanted tough and immediate action. They're pragmatists. Later, one of their advisers pointed out that "unemployment in the construction field is a catastrophe ... joblessness has increased 1.2 million since October a year ago. We'll hit over 6 million without work shortly."

But a little hard action was laid on the Cabinet table. Part of the reason may be in the President's lack of economic stabilization power. During the Nixon years such power eroded. The Defense Act of Korean War time was wiped out by the 1970 Economic Stabilization Act. This in turn was wiped out by the Congress last April. So any real action on the paid- price front must come from Congress -- which is allergic to the White House, even under Mr. Clean.

So, perhaps he's going to the men who can influence the Congress. They were all in the room with him.

And they will be conferring again and again. Perhaps this was Mr. Ford's moment for a soft- sell beginning. Perhaps this was his way of saying the best he would do is to go to the people, get them to slash consumption of fuel, thus telling the oil- exporting nations that their market could go tight on the Middle East petroleum producers.

But the powerful men from the labor, industrial and banking executive suites had other problems. At least one major world- famed corporation employing several hundred thousand workers is virtually bankrupt. The banking and money markets are in near chaos. Union leaders see prices skyrocketing beyond the range of new scales for which they can push their employers for increased pay next year.

In some labor circles the word is that not only the Russians but their satellites and the Peking Chinese are in the U.S. buying food and grains on which they can offer a price -- any price. I underplay this though more than rumor has it that the Sino- Soviet rivals are stockpiling in advance of renewed heavy Asian border warfare.

Reports of corn, green beans, soy beans and other grain shortages are pouring in. At the rate of nine pounds of "feed" to fatten a calf by one pound, the cattle raisers are saying they'll lose $50 a head. This is bound to zoom prices by March or April -- prices of food, bread and meat.

So it was difficult for the well- versed members of the Labor- Management Committee to share Jerry Ford's enthusiasm over the citizens' crusade. He's really very serious over this consumer campaign. It's not just rhetoric.

But if he persists he will find himself very "clobberable." And perhaps without some of his committee members, President Ford talks quite a bit about biting the bullet while the labor leaders are baiting the ballot. After that deluge will come the tidal strike wave.

The good President will learn what Lyndon Johnson did after turning out the lights. In the word of the late President's daughter, the White House became "the darkest place in town." The people seek leadership. They do not lead.

Washington-Merry-Go-Round

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:
Not Long for White House

WASHINGTON -- President Ford's new staff chief, Donald Rumsfeld, won't be around the White House more than six months.

Sources in the President's confidence say he needed someone in a hurry to replace Alexander Haig, who had headed former President Nixon's White House staff.

The President, therefore, summoned Rumsfeld whom he actually had in mind to be the next Secretary of Defense. Our sources say Ford still intends to send the able Rumsfeld to preside over the Pentagon.

The President wanted to get rid of Haig, say our sources, because he held too tight a rein on the White House staff, which looked to him instead of Ford's people for their orders.

The President's plans for Rumsfeld, of course, means Secretary of Defense James Schlesinger will be dropped from the cabinet. This will be a victory of Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, who has been feuding with Schlesinger over foreign- military policy.

WATCH ON WASTE: About 180 welfare officials gathered on exotic Frenchman's Reef in the Virgin Islands late last month to discuss the plight of the poor.

Choosing from a menu "laden with a host of superb continental specialties," they dined in lazy luxury as they talked about the hunger that is gaining in impoverished neighborhoods.

One conference session, for example, dealt with food stamp programs. It was presided over by an Agriculture Department official who was flown in from Washington, $169 round trip.

When the problems of poverty became too depressing, the welfare officials could escape into the coral waters for "free snorkel lessons," or on afternoon tours of the Virgin Island paradise.

The delegates came from 31 states and regions. At least 10 federal officials from the Health, Education and Welfare Department slipped down to the Virgin Islands for the conference, at a minimum cost to the taxpayers of $200 apiece, including hotel accomodations.

A spokesman for the American Public Welfare Association, which sponsored the frolic, explained to us: "We hold the conferences in a different region every year, and this was the first time for the Virgin Islands."

YOSEMITE STORY: There is more to the story of how Yosemite National Park, with scenery no Hollywood studio could duplicate, became the backdrop for the TV series "Sierra."

We published the first installment on September 15. The Music Corporation of America, we reported, had taken over the camping and catering concessions in Yosemite in late 1973.

Not long afterwards, film crews belonging to an MCA subsidary turned up in the park to film the "Sierra" series. Although nature provided them with some of the most spectacular scenery in the world, we reported, the Hollywood hotshots tried to improve it by painting the rocks in one area.

The "Sierra" TV shows are now appearing on the NBC network, which should be good for MCA's camping and catering business in Yosemite. The program's producer, Bob Cinader, denies that the series was created to promote tourism in the park. But here, at least, are some curious coincidences:

— The series was not proposed to MCA, as usually happens, but MCA initiated it. "Somebody upstairs got the idea" for the show, Cinader acknowledged.

— The pilot show, originally titled "Park Ranger," was a sad flop. The scenery outperformed the actors, and only a bear impressed the test audiences. Yet miraculously, MCA was able to peddle the series to NBC. "They bought it in spite of the pilot," said Cinader.

— The producers had trouble completing the scripts and casting the actors. Off-duty park rangers were used as production assistants. Production costs were high, with each episode costing about $60,000 more than programs filmed on studio lots.

Whether or not MCA planned it that way, the company could make up the extra costs in the tourist business that the TV series chould attract to Yosemite. Cinader's comment on this: "There is no attempt made in the show to indicate that the park is Yosemite."

SHORT REPLY: Marguerite Steed, granddaughter of Rep. Tom Steed, D-Okla., signed on as an interne last summer in the office of House Speaker Carl Albert.

In the manner of young people, she struck up a summer romance with the Speaker's son, David. Young Albert, like his father, is short in size. And Marguerite, like her grandfather, is a talker.

Congressman Steed jokingly asked his granddaughter one day what might result if a Steed should be crossed with an Albert. She retorted without hesitation: "A long-winded midget."

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — After Dick Williams took over as manager of the California Angels on July 1 the team went into a losing streak. After nine straight losses he sent outfielder Bobby Valentine to home plate with the lineup card. Valentine wore number 13 and carried a black cat.

Hayti to buy police cars

HAYTI — The Hayti City Council voted unanimously last week to purchase two new police cars for the city in a special meeting called to deal with police matters.

Mayor Fred Chaffin presented a financing statement and security agreement between the city and Bank of Hayti for the purchase of two 1974 Ford police cars. The total amount of the loan is $9,360.35, with 19 consecutive monthly installments to be made in the amount of $493.65 each, beginning Nov. 1.

It is the first time the city has ever bought police cars for its officers. In the past, police officers used their own cars.

The cars were purchased from Boyd Bros. Ford.

Alderman H. R. Euell, a representative of the Hayti police commission, presented a list of rules and regulations for police cars to other members of the council.

The council voted to approve the contents of the list, effective immediately.

The salaries for the police department as recommended by the mayor, police committee and the City Council went into effect with the approval of the rules and regulations. Raises were given to all officers except the police chief, who cannot receive a raise while in office.

Chief of Police salary is $600 per month, plus $125 expenses; lieutenant salary, $500 per month; sergeant salary, $477 per month; patrolmen salary, $462 per month; and extra policemen, $2 per hour.

The council agreed that gas purchased for the police cars should be purchased on a monthly basis from licensed service stations in Hayti. City Clerk Marcele Russell was instructed to write a letter to each station owner informing them of the city's intention and asking their cooperation.

Euell suggested that for record keeping purposes, the cars be numbered as light blue with vinyl top, No. 1, and dark blue with hardtop, No. 2. It was also suggested that this number be on each gas ticket and that the ticket be signed by the officer operating the car at that time.

In other business not pertaining to the police department, there was a discussion concerning the appointment of a city attorney to fill the vacancy left by James A. "Tick" Vickrey. Alderman John Turnage suggested that the new attorney not be required to attend all council meetings but that he would be subject to call when needed.

The council then voted to appoint Byron Luber of Caruthersville as Hayti's new attorney. A monthly salary of $325 to Luber was also approved by the council.

The final action by the council was authorizing payment to James Cordell for the installation of new pumps and equipment at the master list station, subject to approval by the city's consulting engineer.

Feemster found slain

SCOTT CITY — A former Scott City man was found shot to death Sunday in the St. Louis County home of his estranged wife, who was held for questioning.

The victim was identified as James Feemster, 46, a St. Louis area construction worker.

St. Louis County authorities said the shooting took place early Sunday in the home of his estranged wife, Mrs. Betty Feemster, 36, of Edmonson Terrace.

Officials said the incident was not reported until 20 hours later.

Authorities said the body was found in the basement. The shooting, however, appeared to have occurred in the kitchen.

Police officers found a .22- caliber rifle apparently used in the shooting, but did not say to whom it belonged. Officers also did not say how the body was apparently moved from the kitchen to the basement.

Charges had not been filed against Mrs. Feemster as of Monday, authorities said.

Details of the incident were sketchy, but Feemster apparently went to the house either late Saturday or early Sunday to talk with his wife, officers said.

The couple had been separated for some time, and Mrs. Feemster had custody of four of their five children, according to St. Louis County authorities.

Feemster was the son of Mrs. F. R. Feemster of Scott City and the late F. R. Feemster.

Feemster was born Sept. 8, 1929 in Little Rock, Ark., but spent most of his childhood in the Illmo- Scott City area. He was a gradute of the former Fornfelt High School and served in the Marine Corps.

Other survivors include five children, Jean, Janet, Jimmy, Jennifer and Jacquelyn, and two brothers, Robert Feemster of Poplar Bluff and Ron Feemster of California.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Council asked to approve funds for foam generator

DEXTER — Fire Chief Al Banken Monday asked the City Council to approve funds for a firefighting foam generator.

"You have to see it in action to believe it," he said. "It's a good piece of equipment. It can cut down on water damage, it is good for electrical and gasoline fires, and there are plenty of cases in Dexter where it could be used."

Following a demonstration of the equipment Sept. 17 for Mayor Willis Conner and the council, the mayor admitted that he was impressed.

The equipment is owned by Waters Automatic Fire Protection Co. of Sikeston and costs less than $2,000, Banken said.

"I recommend we buy that piece of equipment," he told the council, adding that a pickup truck could be purchased to transport the equipment. "It will cost more," he said, "but it will be worth it."

Alderman Leslie Day asked if the foam would be used when there was a fire in just one room of a house, or the regular firefighting technique.

"I'd have to go with the foam," Banken said. "The foam would cause much less damage to the property."

"I'm definitely interested; it's an amazing machine," Conner said, "But can we afford it?" He instructed Banken to look into the total cost of the machine and to make a report to the council.

A recommendation by City Collector Charles Bland that the price for city automobile license stickers be increased was rejected.

"There's no need for it," Alderman Robert Curtis said. "If we make all the car owners in the city who don't have stickers get them, we'll have enough revenue that we won't need to raise the price."

The council voted to keep the same rate but to make a renewed effort to enforce the ordinance requiring every resident car owner to have a city sticker.

Following discussion of a request by a church for permission to reserve a stretch of public street for parking on Sunday morning, the council rejected the request.

"I think it's a bunch of bull," one alderman said, "it's like saying you can't park on the street unless you go to church."

"It would set a bad precedent," Alderman Doren Vancil said. "If we set aside space for one church, then any church in town could come here and demand a stretch of public street for private use."

A license was granted to the Hickory House restaurant to sell liquor by the drink.

The board considered what to do with the parking meters removed from the former city parking lot beside Stovall's store.

"We have more meters now than we need," Alberman Eldon Cooper said.

"They don't pay off, that's for sure," Conner said.

"Unless somebody hollers to put them in, let's just leave them out," Vancil said.

The council decided to go along with Vancil's suggestion, using the meters as replacements for the ones presently in use when they wear out. The meters are currently stored in the city jail.

Conner reported that the park board has agreed to take over operation of the swimming pool. In other action, the council authorized street superintendent Roy Jackson to take whatever steps are necessary to remove roots in the way of construction of new city sidewalks, and decided to keep the group insurance plan already in effect.

Conner also reported that City Clerk George McCracken was still in serious condition from a stroke he suffered several weeks ago.

4 arrested

Police today announced four arrests, they include Septoria Antipas of Chicago, Ill., public intoxication; J. B. Hall, 207 Lafayette, Charleston, driving while intoxicated; Gregory Lynn Knuckles, Route Four, speeding; Minne Howve Taylor, 401 Lions, peace disturbance.

ON SECOND MORTGAGES

When mortgage money is plentiful, the subject of second mortgages is academic because lower down payments are common and lending institutions are looking for borrowers for mortgage money.

However, the picture changes when money is tight. In this situation, higher down payments on the mortgage are expected and mortgage takeovers are rare or non-existent.

The second mortgage on the property carries a higher interest rate and a shorter repayment time - usually from three to five years. The reason for this is the higher risk involved because the second mortgage cannot be satisified in case of default until after the first mortgage is paid off.

The second mortgage can be an excellent way to complete the sale of property which would otherwise fall by the wayside. Listen very closely to your Realtor in this situation because every case is different and professional expertise is a MUST.

Chaffee council hires new police officer

CHAFFEE — The Chaffee City Council Monday night voted to hire Charles Benson of Jackson as a new police officer.

Mayor Sally Wehmeyer said Benson will be on a six-months probation period.

A motion was tabled by the council to hire Dale Coats as a full time police chief. Mayor Wehmeyer said that although his six- month probation period was up, he has not had his physical physical examination which is required by the council.

A petition was presented to the council concerning the removal of R. T. Cobb from the Chaffee Special Road District, because, according to employes, they have been unable to work with him satisfactorily. The council informed the committee that it would place the petition on its record but that the decision would be up to the Scott County Court to discharge Cobb and suggested it present petitions to Presiding Judge Les Lankford.

A committee was appointed to investigate the possibility of annexation of an area on the west side of Highway 77. Appointed to the committee were Carlof Crump, George Allwood, N. O. Rigdon. The council also voted to keep the bridge closed over Heeb Creek, located on South Main St., leading to the housing project.

The bridge will remain closed until construction is completed.

Building permits were approved for William McGuire, 517 N. 5th St., for a garage, $1,500; Dan Davenport, Box 89, for a new carport, $1,260; Gene Stubb, 109 S. 3rd St., for a carport, $840; Ben Kirn, 127 Gray St., for a front porch, $200; Dick Smiley, 201 Robin Hood Circle, for a new home, $28,000; Jacob Statler, 411 West Yokam, for a carport, $400.

Fire destroys cotton bales

KENNETT — Fire destroyed more than 20 bales of cotton on the loading platform at the East 84 Cotton Gin east of Kennett late Friday night.

Cause of the blaze was not determined.

The Kennett fire department stayed at the scene almost three hours after being summoned there around 11:30 p.m.

Twenty full bales of cotton were destroyed and several partial bales were badly damaged by the blaze which also damaged the metal roof over the loading platform where the bales had been placed.

Volleyball team adds pair of wins.

The Sikeston High School girls volleyball team added a pair of wins to their record Monday night by defeating Poplar Bluff's girls in the Sikeston High School field house.

The Sikeston teams controlled both games and were never challenged by the inexperienced Poplar Bluff crews, according to Coach Jane Merrick.

Sikeston High School won the A-team games by scores of 15-10 and 15-7 although two of the regular starters for Sikeston were out of action.

In the B-team games, the Sikeston team won by scores of 15-9 and 15-6 as Emma Wells, Kelly Hill and Debra Schuette contributed the majority of points in both games.

The Sikeston A-team now has two wins and two losses, while the B-team boasts three wins and one loss.

The Sikeson team travels to Bloomfield tonight for a 6:30 doubleheader which Coach Merrick expects to be tough because Bloomfield is a member of the Stoddard County Conference, where volleyball competition has been underway for several years.

SHS tennis team defeated

The temperature dropped to about 40 degrees Monday night and the skies were dark, but a persistent crowd remained at Central Park to watch the tie- breaking doubles match in which the Cape Girardeau Central girls tennis team pulled out a 6-5 victory over the Sikeston High School girls.

Although the Sikeston team was defeated in the tie-breaker, 8-6, the evening proved an exciting one for players and fans alike as the teams fought to a 5-5 deadlock at the end of regular match play.

"Most of the girls were executing very well yesterday and were going to the net better," Coach Berta Schuerenberg reported today. She explained that most of the Sikeston girls are used to playing baseline tennis, and she has been working to get them to go to the net more.

The girls are also doing better on placing their shots, but still need some work in this area, she said.

In the tie- breaking doubles match, the excitement of the evening's play continued as the teams battled to a 5-5 tie. The Cape Girardeau team then jumped ahead, 7-5, but the Sikeston team came back to narrow the gap to 7-6 before losing, 8-6.

Mary Lowney, the No. 2 Sikeston singles player, tied Sara Jones, 8-8, before losing the match, 10-8.

Marilyn Neel played the same opponent she had faced last week and, although last week's game ended with a tie- breaker, her Cape Central opponent won this week's match, 8-6.

Mary Sikes and Lynn Bizzell, the only Sikeston team members with perfect records, maintained their unbeaten singles records.

Gail Strickland, recently moved from doubles to singles play, won her match impressively, Coach Schuerenberg noted.

Also, Susan Drumm won her second match in a row.

Individual scoring, with Sikeston girls listed first, included:

Jeannie Vines lost to Ann Vangilder, 8-3; Mary Lowney was defeated by Sara Jones, 10-8; Marilyn Neel was beaten by Tamm Price, 8-6; Lynn Bizzell topped Anitra McKee, 8-4; Gail Strickland won over Barbara Lovingood, 8-4; Cindy Davis lost to Teresa Ramsey, 8-4; and Mary Sikes defeated Susan Strom in a 5-1 tie- breaker and Susan Drumm beat Mary Colon in a 5-2 tie- breaker after their matches had ended in 8-8 standoffs.

In doubles play, the SHS No. 1 doubles team of Marilyn Neel and Deena Dollar lost, 8-4, to Tammy Price and Barbara Lovinggood.

The No. 2 doubles team, Lisa Eaves and Nancy Bohannon, won their first match of the season by taking a 5-1 tie- breaker after playing the Cape Central team of Susan Strom and Teresa Ramsey to an 8-8 tie.

The tie- breaking doubles match was played by SHS players Jeannie Vines and Melissa Lea, who were beaten by Ann Vangilder and Anitra McKee, 8-6, giving the victory to Cape Central.

The next match for the SHS team will be played here Thursday night against Kennett. Play will begin at 4 p.m. on the Sikeston High School and Central Park courts.

Delores Comer presents program

Mrs. Delores Comer presented the program Tuesday at the Sikeston Women's Civic Club meeting at Two-Tony's Smorgasbord, rather than Mrs. Mildred Canedy, as was incorrectly reported in Friday's edition of The Daily Standard. Mrs. Canedy introduced Mrs. Comer.

Risco youth honored at first birthday party

RISCO -- Michelle Hickerson was honored with a party to mark her first birthday Sept. 28 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Allen. Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Pearson were co-hosts.

The party room and table were decorated around a Micky Mouse theme.

Pink punch and a large carousel cake covered with Walt Disney characters were served to the following: Stephanie Dustin and Patty Hall of Kewanee, and Amber, Lois, Collin and Becky Norris, Misty Christi and Janie Hicks, Roselle May, Emily Applegate, Mable Allen and Mr. and Mrs. Leon Hickerson of Risco.

Mr. and Mrs. William James Kleusner

Miss Wells, Kleusner united in marriage

BENTON -- Miss Marilyn Jean Wells of Benton and William James Kleusner were united in marriage during a 2 p.m. ceremony Sept. 21 at the United Methodist Church. The Rev. Earl Statler, minister, performed the double- ring ceremony.

Miss Wells is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Wells of Benton, and Kleusner is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nobert Kleusner of New Hamburg.

Music was provided by Mrs. Lester Miller Jr. at the organ and Mrs. Tom Arnold at the piano. Mrs. Wallace Alden, the soloist, sang, "Today" and "The Wedding Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an all lace gown with high neckline and long sleeves which featured an apron effect in front and a ruffled train. A shoulder- length veil of sheer organza completed her attire. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses, white carnations and baby's breath.

The bride chose her sister, Mrs. Bill McClung of Lewisville, Tex., as matron of honor. Miss Sherilyn Diana Wells of Benton, sister of the bride, and Miss Mary Ann Blattel of New Hamburg were bridesmaids.

The matron of honor wore an emerald green, double knit, empire- styled gown. The bridesmaids' dresses were lime green in color and designed identically to the one worn by the matron of honor. Each carried a single yellow rose with yellow and green streamers.

Tina Milam of Benton was flower girl, and Michael Wayne Smith of Sandwich, Ill., was ringbearer.

John Blattel of Jefferson City, cousin of the groom, was best man. Norman Kleusner, brother of the groom, and Owen Dudley Wells III, brother of the bride, were groomsmen. Norman Glueck of New Hamburg and Noble Milam Jr. of Benton were ushers.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the American Legion Hall, which was decorated in the bride's chosen colors of yellow and green.

A three- tiered wedding cake graced the bride and goom's table.

Servers were Mrs. Wayne Smith of Sandwich, Ill., Mrs. Noble Milam and Mrs. Darlene Evans of Benton, Mrs. Al Milam of Jonesboro, Ill., and Mrs. Vernon Phillips of Oran.

Mrs. Hess Porter attended the guestbook.

The bride is a 1972 graduate of Kelly High School and attended Southeast Missouri State University in Cape Girardeau.

The groom, a 1970 graduate of Kelly High School and a 1974 graduate of Southeast Missouri State University, is a management trainee for Brown Group, Inc. The couple will live in Brookfield.

On Sept. 15, a miscellaneous shower was given in the lower auditorium of the United Methodist Church by Mrs. Hess Porter, Mrs. Lester Miller Jr., Mrs. Etta Frobase and Mrs. Alden Penny.

A rehearsal party was held Sept. 20 for the bridal party.

December wedding planned

ILLMO -- Mr. and Mrs. Wilford M. Raines announce the engagement of their daughter Twyla Renya to John R. Wilson of Cape Girardeau, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Burl Wilson of Campbell.

Miss Raines is a graduate of Illmo Scott City High School and is attending Southeast Missouri State University in Cape Girardeau.

Wilson is a graduate of Campbell High School, Three Rivers Community College in Poplar Bluff and Southeast Missouri State University. He is employed by the Illmo-Scott City school system as assistant basketball coach and math teacher.

A December wedding is planned.

Miss Davis, Perry to wed

ADVANCE -- Mr. and Mrs. Billy Dean Davis announce the engagement of their daugher Sheila Denise to Paul James Perry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul C. Perry of DeSoto.

Miss Davis is a student at Jefferson College in Hillsboro, and Perry is a graduate of the University of Missouri-Kansas City School of Pharmacy.

An October wedding is planned.

Sooners bid for lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ohio State held onto first place in The Associated Press college football rankings today, but withstood a charge by the runner-up Oklahoma Sooners.

The Buckeyes, who trounced Washington State 42-7 last weekend, received 33 first-place votes and 1,144 of a possible 1,220 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Oklahoma, the preseason poll leader, was named first on 24 ballots and accumulated 1,124 points in the wake of a 63-0 rout of Wake Forest.

Alabama and Michigan remained third and fourth. 'Bama defeated Mississippi 35-21 and pulled down one first-place vote and 958 points, while the Wolverines beat Stanford 27-16 and earned two No. 1 votes and 893 points.

The other first-place vote went to Auburn, which climbed from 11th to 10th with a 3-0 victory over Miami of Florida. The loss knocked the Hurricanes out of the Top Twenty.

Texas A&M, fifth last week, was jolted by Kansas 28-10 and skidded to 16th place. Meanwhile, Nebraska battered Minnesota 54-0 and moved up from sixth to fifth.

Notre Dame rose from seventh to sixth with a 19-14 triumph over Michigan State, and Southern California jumped from ninth to seventh by whipping Iowa 41-3.

North Carolina State, although it became the nation's only 5-0 team with a 24-20 victory over East Carolina, slipped from eighth to 11th. Florida turned back Louisiana State 2414 and advanced from 13th to eighth.

Rounding out the Top Ten are Texas Tech, a 14-13 winner over Oklahoma State, and Auburn. Last week, they were 10th and 11th, respectively.

The Second Ten consists of North Carolina State, Arizona, Wisconsin, Arkansas, Penn State, Texas A&M, Texas, Arizona, Kansas and Miami of Ohio.

Last week's Second Ten was Auburn, Arizona, Florida, Illinois, Penn State, Miami of Florida, Pitt, Arizona State, Texas and Arkansas.

Wisconsin moved back into the Top Twenty with a 59-20 rout of Missouri, while Kansas and Miami of Ohio made it for the first time this season. Miami beat Kentucky 14-10.

The Associated Press Top Twenty college football poll, with first-place votes in parentheses, season record and total points. Points tabulated on basis of 20-18-16-14-12-10-9-8-etc.:

1. Ohio St. (33)	4-0-0	1,144
2. Oklahoma (24)	3-0-0	1,124
3. Alabama (1)	4-0-0	958

16. Texas A&M	3-1-0	95
17. Texas	3-1-0	71
18. Arizona St.	3-1-0	51
19. Kansas	3-1-0	34
20. Miami, Ohio	3-0-1	20

Others receiving votes, listed alphabetically: Clemson, Illinois, Maryland, Miami of Florida, Missouri, North Carolina, Oklahoma State, Pitt, Temple, Tennessee, Tulane, UCLA.

Bulldog JV win 1st

The Sikeston Bulldog Jr. Varsity football team ended a three game losing streak here Monday night by shutting out the Dexter Bearcats 16-0.

The ball game was completely turned around in the third period after a scoreless battle throughout the first half. Dexter passed and ran for 30 yards into Bulldog territory but the receiver fumbled the ball and Sikeston recovered and ran the ball back deep into Dexter territory A few plays later Paul Bean plunged into the endzone for the TD. David Shell ran in for a two point conversion and a 8-0 lead.

Most of the game was played in the middle of the field as both teams kept trying to run up the middle at each other but the defense was too tough for both teams.

With less than a minute to play Sikeston scored again on a 60 yard run and added the extra points to win their first game of the season.

The varsity team hopes to end its losing string Friday when they face the Kennett Indians.

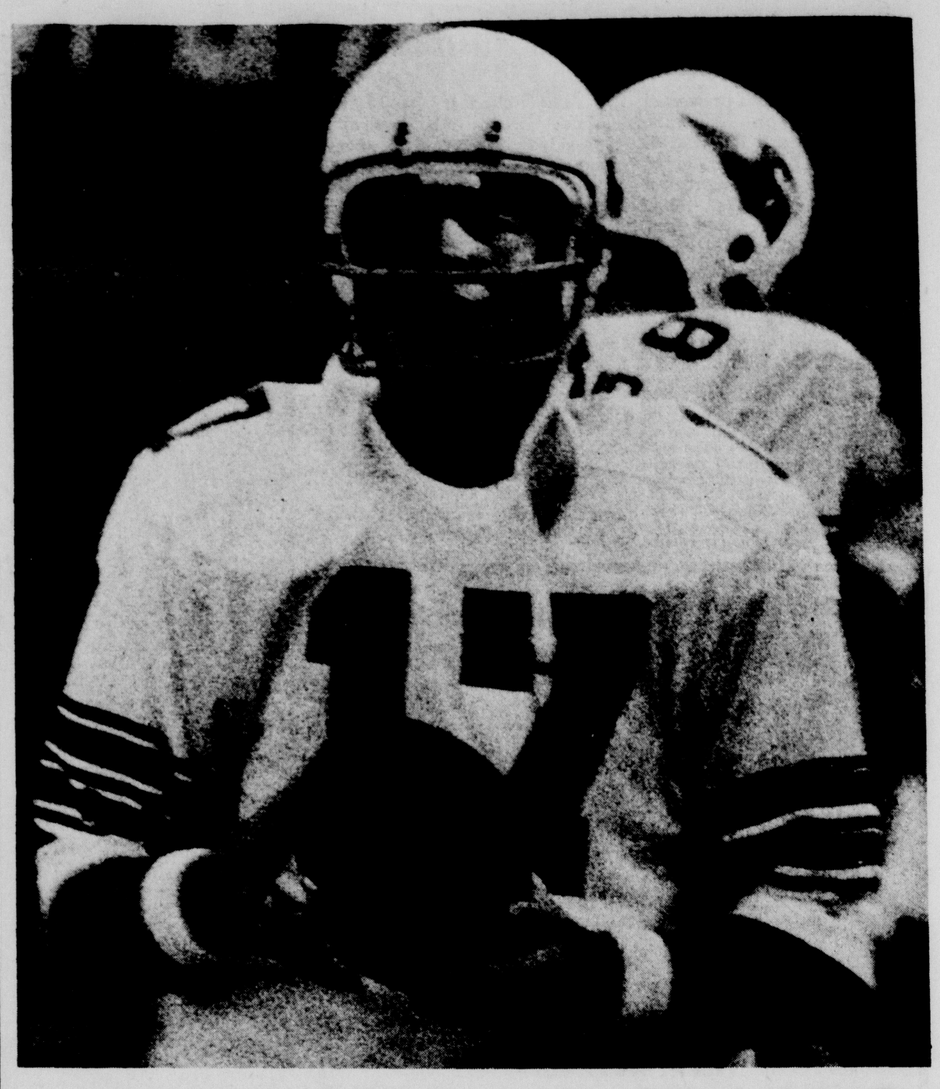
Schedule change

Sikeston High School Athletic Director Bob Buchannon announced today a change in the Freshman and eight grade football schedules.

The scheduled Jr. High game with Poplar Bluff on October 17th has been changed to Oct. 19th at 10:00 A.M. with both the eighth and 9th grade playing.

The 8th grade B team will play at Charleston October 22 at 4:00 p.m.

It was also announced that Kennett would charge admission to the junior high game Thursday.



Jim Hart (17) starts to warm his throwing arm up during a recent game. The Big Red Signal calling veteran is having his best season ever and the St. Louis Cardinals are off to their best start, winning their first four- games.

PB athletes star

POPLAR BLUFF — The City of Poplar Bluff, long time a great football community, can be proud of something that no one else can boast about in the area. They have two native sons in professional football and both doing very well.

Eddie Moss is a running back for the Football Cardinals in St. Louis and played some against the San Francisco 49'ers Sunday after recovering from an injury which had him sidelined for awhile.

The latest edition to the pro ranks is Derland Moore. Moore was an All-American for the Oklahoma Sooners. After graduation he was drafted by the New Orleans Saints of the National Football League.

Moore came into camp as a rookie two years ago with a hip pointer he received in the college All-Star game. He later received a knee injury in the fourth pre-season game and was forced to miss a month of action.

"I don't think I realized how important it was to be completely healthy", said the 6-4, 255- pound defensive tackle.

A starter at right tackle during most of the past pre-season Moore has continued to hold the post through the Saints' first three regular season outings. According to New Orleans' defensive line coach Bob Cummings, "Derland's making fine progress and that should continue. He's got great potential, size, strength and a desire to excel. He could be on the job for a long time."

"I'll play anywhere at any time," stated Derland, "but I sort of liked it a little better on the outside of the defensive line, where I didn't have to sift through so many people before finally locating the ballcarrier. There's not nearly as much traffic on the outside. It's also a lot easier to rush the passer from the end position.

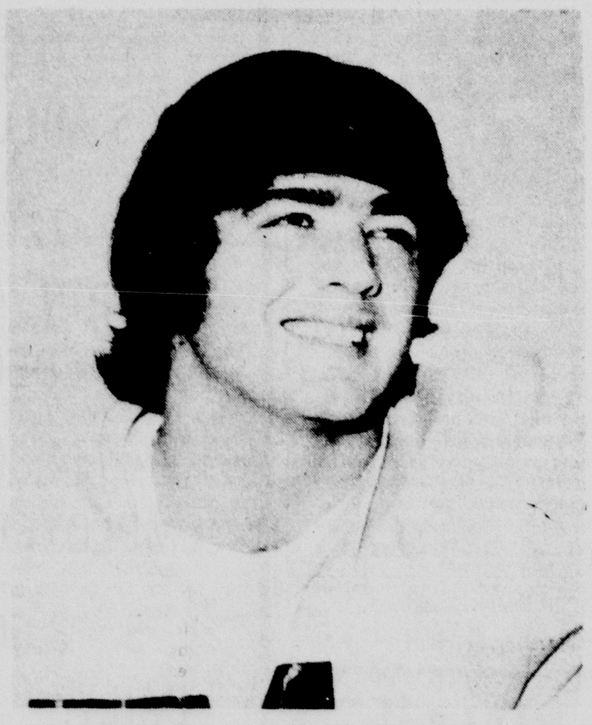
"One more thing. I thought I might be too heavy at my current weight, until I was introduced to blockers who out-weighed me by twenty pounds. There's nothing simple about life in the NFL."

Sports Briefs

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Pancho Gonzales is seeded first in the $25,000 Pebble Beach Senior Open Tennis Championships which begins here Thursday.

The finals are scheduled Sunday at the Pebble Beach courts.

Defending champion Pancho Segura, Vic Seixas, Frank Sedgman and Torben Ulrich are among the other seeded players.



Derland Moore, former All-America tackle from the University of Oklahoma and High School Mules star, is taking over at tackle for the New Orleans Saints in his second year of pro football. Derland is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Moore of Poplar Bluff.

Onofrio looks for NU upset

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Football Coach Al Onofrio of Missouri is wondering whether history will repeat itself.

"Two years ago," Onofrio recalled Monday during the Big Eight Conference telephone briefing, "we got beat bad by Nebraska and the next week we upset Notre Dame."

Missouri, battered by Wisconsin 59-20 last week, goes to Nebraska Saturday.

"I wish I knew what happened at Wisconsin," Onofrio said. "I'm baffled myself. I don't think the players were looking ahead to Nebraska.

"We've got to be physically, mentally and technically ready to play Nebraska. We know our players and know what they can do."

"I don't think the way Missouri played last week will have anything to do with what happens here Saturday," Osborne continued. "I'm sure Missouri will come up here and give a great effort."

Coach Bill Mallory of Colorado said the Buffs "are battered up" for their game with Iowa State.

"And our defense is still not a real good defense," Mallory added. "We've got a lot of respect for Iowa State. Like us, they lost their first two games and have come on strong since then. They've been shootin' for us."

Iowa State Coach Earle Bruce said he thinks Colorado's defense "is getting tougher" and said three Buffalo offensive stars, Dave Logan, Billy Waddy and David Williams "really jump out of the films at you."

Mike Strachan, Iowa State's great runner, will carry the ball more against the Buffs, Bruce said.

"On paper, I don't see how we can stop 'em," Coach Vince Gibson said of the Kansas Jayhawks, who invade K-State territory Saturday. "I hope they fumble."

Gibson said K-State quarterback Steve Grogan, bothered by a pinched nerve in his neck, is still ailing but that Grogan "will play against Kansas if he possibly can. I don't know what kind of shape we'll be in but we'll play good against Kansas."

Kansas, said Coach Don Fambrough, must be "at our very best mentally and physically" for the Wildcats. "When we play K-State, it's a unique game."

Oklahoma State has an open date Saturday, and Coach Jim Stanley and "it's welcome." Stanley reported that halfback Terry Miller will miss three or four weeks because of a fractured bone in his left knee and that Scott Burk, freshman quarterback, had to undergo surgery for a separated shoulder.

One nonconference game is on the schedule. Oklahoma, unbeaten and untied, travels to Dallas for its annual struggle with the Texas Longhorns.

"Earl Campbell of Texas is the best freshman back in the country," said Oklahoma Coach Barry Switzer. "He's awesome. Even if Roosevelt Leaks was healthy, I think he'd beat Leaks out. I never thought I'd see the day I'd rather play against Leaks than a freshman."

Both Switzer and Sooner quarterback Steve Davis indicated Oklahoma would increase the tempo of its passing game against the Longhorns.

"Texas is still the same type of team gainst the rushing game," said Switzer. "So you know what we'll do."

"People have not been able to run much against Texas this year," said Davis. "If they shut us off, we've got to go somewhere. The air's there. It scares me to go down that ramp in Texas more than anywhere in the world.

"I got hit by a beer can going down that ramp last year. Those people are crazy down there."

ATLANTA (AP) Starting guard Herm Gilliam will be lost to the Atlanta Hawks for six weeks after undergoing knee surgery to repair torn cartilage Monday, the National Basketball Association club said.

Gilliam, a five-year veteran from Purdue, who averaged 14.1 points a contest a year ago, injured his left knee in a workout three weeks ago and had not seen any action during the exhibition season.

SPORTS BEAT

By Bill Harrison

Daily Standard Sportswriter

High School basketball coaches throughout the state are happy this week as basketball practice officially begins its season week of drills since opening October 1 for non-football schools. Football schools begin drills Oct. 15.

I like all sports but there is something about a good basketball game that really turns me on.

I happen to think that basketball takes the most athletic skill of all sports because of the way it is played.

Many boys possess speed and hands to catch a ball or ability to hit a baseball but not many boys have the ability to run fast and handle a basketball at full speed and be able to fire the ball through the basketball goal with accuracy.

Every year the high school coaches start the season with their eye on the state championship. Season play means a lot to the coaches and players but everyone must admit that the regional and state tournament is their ultimate goal as season practice begins.

Area high school basketball should be better this season all- around than it has been in years.

There were some fine junior varsity players last season to move up this year after a summer to sharpen their roundball skills and many varsity teams were young last year and will have seasoned veterans to take the floor opening night.

Area fans will probably see the most balanced good teams that they have seen in quite a few years.

Last year Lilbourn and Kelly ran neck and neck as the top two teams in the area all season with Lilbourn proving to the fans that they were number one in the end.

Among the top teams will surely be Lilbourn again, New Madrid, North Pemiscot, Advance, Scott Central, Kelly, Oran should be stronger. Bloomfield, with the Jackson boys improving along with Steve Sharp from the junior varsity team, which lost only one game. Risco will field a veteran team with all- stater Andy Smelser leading the way.

Matthews and Notre Dame should be weaker this year as both teams suffered loss due to graduation. Parma was also a victim of graduation as Steve Gibson will be the only starter back from last years class A regional winner. Kennett will have a fine team as Coach Turlington always comes up with a contender.

Dexter should be improved over last year and some of the large schools such as Poplar Bluff and Sikeston and Cape Central will floor some good talent.

Sikeston had a fine junior varsity team last season led by 6-4 sophomore Mark Eaves and have the JV coach, Buddy Spear, to start the season with. Spears likes to play fastbreak basketball and a pressing full court defense which can be very effective. Cape Central lost Owen Suggs but will have 6-9 Stan Ray back and Chris Ford a good shooting guard.

There should be some fine competition for The Daily Standard top ten teams this season and there may not be but one undefeated team left by the time the regional tournaments roll around.

Mr. Basketball will be around for another exciting season in 1974-75 with his predictions so everyone will know who is going to win the game without even having to attend the games or reading The Daily Standard for the final outcome.

They're going to be hard to pick this year but since everyone around the basketball world knows I'm an expert we shouldn't have too much trouble.

There's one team that I'm going to pick to go undefeated this season straight through the state championship but I'm going to keep it a secret until the end.

Tournaments around the area should be something to behold this year as a lot of balance will be shown by all schools.

The season officially gets underway with the Bell City B Team Invitational the first week in November.

DETROIT (AP) — Center Marcel Dionne was named captain of the Detroit Red Wings for the 1974-75 season, General Manager and Coach Alex Delvecchio announced Monday.

Dionne's appointment becomes effective in time for the National Hockey League season opener Wednesday night when the Wings face the Chicago Black Hawks at Olympia.

Last year Dionne, 23, led the team with 78 points. In his rookie year he set an NHL record for most points and returned in his sophomore year with 40 goals and 50 assists.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Steve Jones, a seven-year American Basketball Association veteran, has been signed as a free agent by the Spirits of St. Louis, the team has announced.

Hornets 'should' be SEMO power

BASKETBALL PREVIEW

ADVANCE -- After losing four starters and two being all- staters coach Carroll Cookson had to rebuild his Hornets in 1973 after finishing second in the state in class A and first in 1972.

Cookson started the season in lack- lustre manner as Scott Central surprised the Hornets with a quick full court man to man press and out ran the Hornets in the first game of the season. After that first loss coach Cookson got his boys rolling and only lost to teams in the top ten in the Daily Standard poll the rest of the regular season and upset the highly touted Puxico Indians twice before bowing the coach Pete Townsends warriors in the finals of the Stoddard County tournament in January.

Coach Cookson lost the services of promising junior Jo David Cummins in the middle of the season and had to revamp his lineup but some promising young sophomores on the junior varsity team, which lost only two games, both to the Bloomfield Wildcats tough JV squad, filled the holes and the Hornets began to jell as the season began to draw to a close.

The Hornets weren't expected to make much of a showing in the regional tournament at South Iron but by this time the Hornets were on the right track with Steve Cookson and Danny Long in the lineup giving the Hornets board strength and ball handling ability along with scoring punch which the Hornets lacked early in the season.

Advance went on the final four with relative ease but ran into some superior height and seemed to let the "big show" frighten them as they had little experience in the lineup.

Coach Cookson lost only two seniors off the entire squad and will be back in 1974-75 with a faster and better shooting team to try to take the class A state tournament for the second time in the past four years.

Returning to the Hornets' Nest will be 6-6 David "Stork" tropf. 6-2 Danny Long. 5-9 Ron Oller. 6-1 Brad Berry. 6-2 Jo David Cummins. 5-8 Steve Cookson. 5-7 Ronnie Veale. 5-8 Terry Hill.

All these boys except Cummins, who was injured, saw action in the regional all the way through their fourth place finish in the state.

Coach Cookson shouldn't be hurting at any position on the floor and the Hornets are loaded with talent through the first eight men.

Cookson and Veale can handle the ball with authority and give the Hornets good speed at the guard positions and have fine outside shooting ability. Both will be juniors at the start of the season. Ron Oller was the leading scorer for the Hornets along with Tropf last season and can play guard or forward. Oller possesses a great shooting touch from the corners. David Tropf can be an outstanding big man this season as a years experience will help him tremendously. Tropf surprisingly enough has a fine outside shooting eye and is outstanding from the free throw line. Long should be devastating from the forward position. He came on strong as a sophomore and with a summer's practice and a little more savvy he may average around 20 points a game. He is one of the area's top leapers at 6-2.

Cummins will find a place in the lineup somewhere as he has a fine shooting eye and gives the Hornets good board strength. He was averaging in double figures before a leg injury sidelined him.

Brad Berry came off the bench last year to give the Hornets good defense and reboundingand some added scoring power from the ten foot range. Terry Hill is a good shooter and after starring on the junior varsity team all season he saw some limited action in regional and state play. He possesses fine speed.

The Hornets look like they'll be as strong as anybody in the state next season barring any crippling injuries to the top eight boys.

Coach Cookson will have a newcomer to the team this year in Royce Yount, who played for Meadow Heights last season and was the Panthers top player.

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Coach Dan Milligan's CCHS Tigers should be the team to beat again this season with 6-9 Stan Ray at the center position for the second consecutive season.

Gone from the Central Tigers will be 6-6 Owen Suggs who was a fine shooter as well as rebounder.

Returning to the Tigers along with Ray will be guard Chris Ford. Ford is a good outside shooter with good speed.

The Tigers won the SEMO conference last year and edged Sikeston in the opening game of the class AAAA regional tournament here and went on the capture the regional championship but their offense failed to jell in the opening round of the state tournament at St. Louis and was eliminated.

Central's biggest problem will be to get enough scoring from someone other than Ray to win the games.

Bill Seabaugh will also be gone from the squad due to graduaton so the Tigers will lose another scoring threat.

EAST PRAIRIE — Coach Steve Doran has Donald Dixon in which to pin his 1974-75 basketball hopes on as two of the New Madrid County's best shooters have graduated after fine careers on the Eagle squad.

Steve Husk and Leroy Bradley, who were depended on to put the points on the scoreboard for East Prairie for the last two season will not be around to help out when the Eagles need scoring.

Dixon will probably be the man that opponents will have to concentrate their defense on.

There may be some prospects up from the junior varsity squad but they will have had to improve a lot over the summer vacation to replace the lost veterans.

It looks like a long season for Steve Doran and the Eagle fans.

DELTA — The DHS Bobcats are looking forward to a good season in 1974-75.

The Bobcats will sorely miss Carson Kelly, who was one of the best rebounders in the area and a fine inside shooter as well.

Returning to the lineup will be Mitch Stroder, a good outside shooter from the corner position. Mike Kelley will be back also to add some experience to the squad.

The Bobcats will have some fine junior varsity squad palyers coming up the varsity this seaosn to give Delta good potential.

Delta will have Keith Campbell, who was as good a shooter as anyone in the area on the junior varsity squad.

Delta will not have much height but should give their opponents plenty of problems with their ability to shoot.

MATTHEWS — Coach Carl Ritter has a rebuilding job to do at the helm of the MHS Pirates this season after a senior squad in 1973-74 failed to materialize after a good start.

Gone from the team this season are five seniors which carried the load for Matthews hopes of a state class A title in 1974.

Only one player, David Kenedy, will be returning this season with much experience at all.

David will be a senior and was a fine shooter last season until a foot injury hampered his style and he never regained his shooting eye which helped him average in double figures early in the 1973-74 campaign.

Coach Ritter will have to depend on some inexperienced players up from the junior varsity squad.

With veterans squads at New Madrid, Lilbourn, and Risco, the Pirates may end up in the cellar of the New Madrid County conference this season.

MORLEY — Coach Ronnie Cookson will have probably his best team since the Scott County Central high School Braves won the Class S regional four years ago.

The Braves like to run the fastbreak offense and play a full court press defense. They are quick and fast and have a year's experience behind them.

Kenny Bright at 6-2 can rebound with anyone in the area with his great jumping ability. All Kenny lacked last season was more consistency in his shooting. If Bright can improve in this department the Braves will be hard to beat this season.

Along with Bright will be Danny Peet who has speed and quickness. Coach Cookson has a couple of junior varsity players who will play an important roll in the teams success this season.

Otto Porter will be a junior and could become one of the best players in the area before he graduates. Coach Cookson promoted him to the varsity team the second half of last season and Porter was one of the teams leading scorers. Otto is a fine defensive player with good jumping ability. Another player that Cookson will be dependion heavily is James (Frog) Williams who will play guard and give the Braves some scoring from outside.

The Braves surprised some teams at the start of the season last year but faded toward the end but should be as strong as ever at the end this year.

PARMA — The Pirates won the Bloomfield regional the past two seasons but this year they have a new head coach in Wayne Early.

After a slow start last season coach Mark Rascher geared up his Pirates for the last half of the season and Parma was hard to beat down the stretch,

Like most other teams in the area Parma has a rebuilding job to do after the graduation of Rolly Perkins, Dick Ramsey and Rufus Barnes.

Coach Early will have to build around 6-3 Steve Gibons. Gibson is a fine shooter from the outside but with his jumping ability he must be counted on to take care of the inside area both in scoring and rebounding on defense.

The Pirates will be a small club compared with the past seasons and have a long way to go to equal their records of the past two seasons.

BENTON — Coach Nick Lanpher will have to rebuild his Kelly Hawks after narrowly missing a trip to the state AA finals in 1973-74.

Kelly won the Richland two consecutive seasons mainly behind the efforts of 6-3 Jeff Jackson. But Jackson has graduated along with guard Kenny Urhahn and now coach Lanpher must find a replacement for both players who were called on to lead the team last year.

Coach Lanphers first job will be to find a suitable replacement for Jackson which will be a very difficult if not impossible job. Jackson was without a doubt the team leader for the past two seasons. When the Hawks needed team leadership Jackson was the one the team turned to for the points or the defense. Jackson was known for his scoring but his big contribution was rebounding and getting the ball out on the fastbreak.

Urhahn was the ball handler and was the speed on the end of the fastbreak offense. The Hawks had trouble bringing the ball down the court against a full court press without Urhahn. Kenny was an outstanding shooter from the 15-18 foot range as well.

The Hawks must come up with a good replacement for Urhahn if they expect to repeat as the Richland regional champion in 1975.

Coach Lanpher does have some good talent returning to the lineup especially in 6-5 Russ Mothershead. Mothershead could possibly be the best big man in the area this season with a second year of experience under his belt.

Russ will have to take up the slack left by the graduation of Jackson. He will be the man that the Hawks must depend on for rebounding, defense and scoring inside.

Mike Brasher will be back at his guard position and he is a good shooter from the top of the key. Mike must be able to produce against one and one defenses better than last year.

Jamie Burger was the third guard last season and will probably be called upon to take the vacated spot left by the graduation of Urhahn. Burger, like Brasher is a good shooter from around the free throw line. Burger lacks experience and will have to work hard to take Urhahn's place.

Another player that coach Lanpher must get a lot of mileage from is Bob Felter. Felter was the third forward last season behind Jackson and Danny Kern. He lacked experience and made a few costly mistakes in crucial games.

Coach Lanpher is hoping he can mold his team into a winner by the time the regional tournaments roll around.

LILBOURN — The LHS Panthers are the defending champions of the state in class AA and will have two of their starters back this season to anchor the team in their quest for the defense of their title.

Gone from the Panthers state championship team will be Edward Farr, Claude McFerren and Carl Meadows. — Perhsps the most missed from the team will be Meadows. Carl at 6-2 gave the Panthers good broad strength and scoring power. He was probably the most underrated player on the team.

Gone also will be coach Larry Warren who has had great success as the Panthers head mentor. Bob Phelps will be taking over the reins of the Panthers. Phelps has coached the Panthers junior varsity in the past and has had good success. Whether or not the Panthers will perform under the tutorship of another coach remains to be seen. There is certainly some fine talent left over from last years team. All-stater Frankie Robinson will be in his junior and with just a little improvement could be as good a player as is in the state for his size. Also returning will be Ernest McFerren who is the floor leader and a fine outside shot.

Loyd White will step in and fill the vacancy left by Farr and will give the Panthers rebounding and inside scoring. Detral Treadwell will be moving up to take over where Claude McFerren left off and he is a good shooter from the outside.

Lilbourn has always played a man to man defense under the helm of Warren and will probably continue to do so under Phelps. It remains to be seen if the newcomers have the defensive ability of the champions. Coach Phelps will have to search hard to come up with a replacement for Meadows though.

Perhaps some junior varsity players will be able to take up some of the slack as the Panthers always seem to have an abundance of talent on the B team. The JV squad has compiled a fantastic record over the past four years partly under the leadership of coach Phelps.

Rally set at Malden

MALDEN — A Teen Challenge rally at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Malden High School gymnasium will feature the Rev. Philip Breithaupt, the regional representative, and the New Creations from Mid-America Teen Challenge Training Center at Cape Girardeau in a program sponsored by the Malden Jaycees.

The New Creations is the official choir of the Mid-America Teen Challenge Center, and its members will share in music and testimony how they have found mental and physical cure from drug addiction through Christ. The choir members are former lawbreakers, drug addicts, alcoholics and other delinquent youth.

Rev. Mr. Breithaupt, the choir director, has served as tenor soloist with the Revivaltime choir on the ABC radio network and has recorded three LP albums. He has addressed civic clubs, high school assemblies, universities, student organizations and churches of many denominations in behalf of the Teen Challenge program.

The Jaycees said no admission will be charged.

THE RYATTS by Jack Elrod

Today in U. S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Tuesday, Oct. 8, the 281st day of 1974. There are 84 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1776, the Spanish mission at San Francisco was founded.

On this date in—

In 1871, the great Chicago fire was touched off in Mrs. O'Leary's barn.

In 1903, the United States and China signed a commercial treaty.

In 1934, Bruno Hauptmann was indicted for murder in the death of the infant son of Charles Lindbergh.

In 1945, President Harry Truman announced that the secret of production of the atomic bomb would be shared only with Britain and Canada.

In 1970, the controversial Soviet writer, Alexander Solzhenitsyn, was awarded the Nobel Prize for literature.

Ten years ago: Hurricane Dora hit a long stretch of Florida's east coast with 125-mile winds.

Five years ago: There was near-chaos in Montreal as police and firemen went on strike for higher pay, and army troops were called in to help keep order.

One year ago: The United States asked the U.N. Security Council to bring an end to fighting between Israel and neighboring Egypt and Syria.

Today's birthday: Black activist Jessie Jackson is 33.

Thought for today: The lazier a man is, the more he is going to do tomorrow — Norwegian proverb.

You don't have to wait till Halloween these days to get spooked easily.

Ann Landers

Teen says advice to 'numb' mother sound

Dear Ann Landers: In my opinion the advice you gave "Numb" (the mother who walked in on her 17-year-old daughter and her boyfriend and caught them in the act) was the most sound and practical answer I've ever read in your colmun. (I'm 17 and have been an Ann Landers fan for five years.)

You advised that mother to see to it that her daughter had an appointment with a doctor to discuss which birth control method would be best for her.

You went on and warned the mother against forbidding the girl from seeing the boy. You said it would create worse problems. You then made an astute comment: "A teenage girl who has experienced sexual intercourse is not about to stop just because her mother or Ann Landers tells her to."

Your conclusion, that the important thing was to make sure the girl didn't get pregnant, was practical and realistic.

I'm sure many mothers who read that column were upset by your answer, but I can tell you, Ann Landers, that every girl in our class was applauding you.

Not all high school girls are sleeping with their boyfriends, and you made it clear you weren't in any sense of the word condoning it. But for those who are, there is no way they can get their virginity back, so the best thing is to protect themselves against lousing up a few lives -- namely, a guy who doesn't want to get married, a girl who may be psychologically scarred for life by an abortion and a child born to a couple of kids who really don't want it. Although I speak for thousands, sign me -- A Senior At Central High

Dear Senior: Thank you for that nice letter. I received an unexpected number of bouquets from teenagers, both boys and girls, and surprisingly few stink weeds from parents. The long- discussed generation gap is beginning to close.

Dear Ann Landers: You've spoken out in behalf of supermarket check-out girls, telephone operators and post office clerks, all in the last few months. Will you please say a word to the brothers, sisters, aunts, uncles, cousins, parents and in-laws of women who are married to physicians in training?

This letter is written by four wives who need help. We average five calls per week from relatives who would like "the doctor" to please drop in to Room 210 and see how Mrs. Neighbor's Cousin is getting along.

What the family doesn't realize is that the physician-in- training is so busy with his own sick patients that in order to make "social" calls he has to give up his meal time or miss a lecture.

When our husbands are "on call" we don't see them for 48 hours at a stretch. They work hard, and the hours are grueling. You wouldn't believe how many relatives have them paged at the hospital to make special requests, which include, or course, what to do about the baby's cough or a sister-in-law's hangnail. Thanks for your help, Ann. -- Buffalo, New York

Dear Buff: Here's the letter. Now why don't you wives who have the problem make copies of this column and send them to the people who ought to see it? Is there no end to the number of gripers who want me to do their dirty work?!!!

There is a big difference between cold and cool. Ann Landers shows you how to play it cool without freezing people out in her booklet, "Teen-Age Sex -- Ten Ways to Cool It." Send 50 cents in coin and a long, self- addressed, stamped envelope to Ann Landers, P. O. Box 1400, Elgin, Illinois 60120.

What's the law?

The case of the redsky seizure

By: JACK STRAUSS, LL.B.

Harry was an American businessman who went to Russia and saw red. Particularly, when the Russian government seized his property, which was worth a lot of rubbles, and vetoed any effort on his part to get it back.

Furious, Harry returned to the United States and immediately sued the Russians for damages. And when he obtained a court order giving him contgol over Russian property in the United States out of which to satisfy his anticipated judgment, it was the Ressky's turn to see red.

"Such an order is illegal," they protested incourt. "A foreign government can't be sued without its consent and we consent not even to the time of day."

"They didn't ask my permission when they grabbed my property," was Harry's answer. "But now we're back in America where we've got laws. And, here, when a person's property is seized, he's entitled to damages. If the Russians don't like our system, they can go back to Moscow."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you permit Harry to continue his suit against the Russians?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that a foreign government, as asserted, cannot be sued in the United States without its consent. If an American citizen is wronged by a foreign government, noted the judge, the problem is political and not a matter for our courts.

Arlington National Cemetery, on the former Custis Lee estate in Virginia, is the site of the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier and the final resting place of President John F. Kennedy who was buried there Nov. 25, 1963. The World Almanac says. Many other famous Americans also are buried at Arlington, as well as American soldiers from every major war.

LET'S STOP pampering the perpetrators of violence

Crimes of violence have spread until they blanket the country. There is no refuge to which the citizen can go for safety from criminal assaults and depredations.

The wave of lawlessness and violence is reaching dimensions that portend open rebellion against society and the rule of law. The law breaker – in all categories – including the habitual criminal enjoys greater immunities and protection than ever before.

Our crime rate increased by 148% in the past decade, while crimes solved by the police declined. Only about one out of 20 who commit major crimes is ultimately convicted and punished. Often the guilty escape punishment, and when convicted, the penalty is not commensurate with the gravity of their crime.

The debt and obligation that all law abiding citizens owe to our policemen is one that we can only partially pay by giving them our unstinting cooperation and good will.

We must stop coddling the criminals . . . the right of the citizens to BE SAFE transcends the right of the criminal to be free.

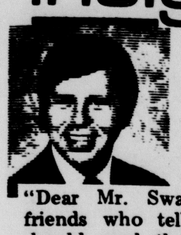
insight



by Larry Swaim

"Dear Mr. Swaim: I have friends who tell me that I should read the Old Testament in order to strengthen my faith, but to be truthful, I don't like the Old Testament. I'm not getting much out of it. It's difficult to read and understand."

I can't disagree with you that the Old Testament is difficult to read, especially some parts, but it is one of the most profitable studies one can make. It does require in-depth research. A superficial study will not do. I would advise you to first master the New Testament. You would be amazed at how it opens many doors of understanding. This can be applied to your Old Testament study.

But the law and the prophets pointed forward to Christ. Christ is revealed in prophecy in numerous places in the Old Testament. He is the sacrificial offering in Isaiah's ritual of worship referred to in John 1:29. In the book of Exodus, the Israelites were told to sprinkle the blood of the lamb on the door post and thus cause the angel of death to pass over their first born. This passover lamb represented Christ. Christ is the prophet foretold by Moses, the seed promised to Abraham by whom the earth would be blessed, and the everlasting king promised to David from his descendants, and the Messiah described by the prophets. The entire Bible speaks of Christ. As someone said, the New Testament is concealed in the Old, the Old Testament is revealed in the New.

For a confidential and Biblical answer to your questions, write to Larry Swaim, 985 Ponce de Leon Avenue, NE, Atlanta, Georgia 30306.

You're heading in the right direction . . . toward the Classified columns of your newspaper.

That's where you'll find the interesting news about the things which are important to you in your everyday life . . . news about job vacancies, places to live, automobiles for sale, recreational and leisure-time facilities and equipment, and a variety of miscellaneous items for sale.

No matter how sophisticated advertising and communication techniques become, Classified is still the one best way for person-to-person communication of needs and wants.

Petition seeks end to work

NEW MADRID — The city council Monday night received a petition from over 100 property owners along the streets ofVandenvender, Pinnell, Russell, Brush Prairie, Hunter, Tennessee, Missouri, First and Second streets, requesting that proposed street paving and guttering previously voted by the council be discontinued.

The petition was presented by attorney David Mann, who said approximately 75 per cent of the property owners on the streets had signed the petition.

Boyd Masterson and Jackson Hunter, as property owners, also voiced their objections before the council.

The council referred the petition to city administrator Don Lloyd for validation of signatures and indicated they would reconsider the project if 75 per cent of the owners had objected.

Trash and garbage collection was discussed and the council was advised that some alleys have been graded and gravelled and trash pick-up can now be made from the rear of the residences along the alleys.

Masterson's Trash Service, contractor for the pick-up of trash and garbage, is to be contacted for inspection of the alleys and agreement to pick-up trash from them.

Administrator Lloyd told the council that the new city dog pound is nearly completed. He was authorized to negotiate with E. H. Hill for operation of the pound and as dogcatcher.

The present ordinance provides that dogs, when caught, must be kept for not less than two days nor more than 10 days before being humanely disposed of. If redeemed from the pound, the owner must pay a $5 charge, plus $1 per day board. If not licensed and vaccinated previously, the owner must have this done also.

The council was advised that the law firm of Blanton, Blanton, Rice and Sickal of Sikeston has filed a petition in Circuit Court requesting a declaratory judgment for the city against Associated Electric Cooperative Inc. for failure to deliver 10,000 kilowatts of electricity to the city as required by contract and asked for a judgment of $1,000 per month, beginning July 1, 1974, the first month the power should have been delivered.

Following adjournment, the council met in secret session.

9 treated

Nine accident patients were treated and released Monday in the emergency room of Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

Idell Mitchell, 17, Sikeston, sprained left ankle; Cynthia Schoffer, 8, Sikeston, bruised chin in fall off bicycle; Vernon Hopkins, 42, Fredericktown, needle fragment was removed from right foot.

to consider donating or leasing some city land to the workshop so a new building could be built.

B. W. Gunn, director of the workshop, told the council, the organization is now helping 85 people and has outgrown the present location at the city airport. In addition, he said, the old building now being used is a fire trap, difficult to heat and has been vandalized five times in the past five weeks.

Gunn said the workshop would need room for a 150 by 70 foot building, with ample space for parking. Most of the money for the new building would come from state and federal sources, he said.

The council asked Church and City Attorney Manuel Drumm to find a possible site and to consider the legal aspects of any such agreement.

PURCHASING

Church gave the council copies of purchasing regulations he has given to city department heads. Orders of less than $25 may be made by department heads if they are sure adequate funds are available and the purchase order is completed prior to the purchase, Church said.

Orders of $25 to $100 must be approved by the city clerk and orders exceeding $100 will require City Manager approval. Orders of more than $400 will require written bids.

UNITED WAY

Rev. Paul Walker, chairman of the United Way asked the council for a resolution in support of this year's fund drive. The council ordered a resolution be drawn up for its next meeting.

Walker said the kick off this year is Oct. 15 and the goal is $46,000.

The United Way supports 11 local agencies.

CITY BOARDS

Any member of a city board who misses four consecutive meetings will be automatically removed from that board under a resolution passed by the council.

The only exceptions are, if the member has been ill, out of state or has some other excuse the board decides is valid.

LIQUOR

The council granted the city's first two liquor by the drink licenses to the Holiday Inn and the El Capri. The licenses were issued under a state law which grants resorts the right to sell liquor by the drink. Both establishments fall under the law's definition of a resort.

The city received five other applications for licenses to sell alcholic beverages, but took no action. Mary A. Pac, 3.2 per cent beer, to sell at 839 W. Malone Ave.; Shirley Keegan, five per cent beer, to sell at a Mexican food restaurant to be located in place of the Park-A-Lot drive in; Dewayne Reeves, 3.2 per cent beer at Liberty Super Market; Steve Woods, 3.2 per cent beer, Quick Chek Market, 1801 E. Malone Ave.; Elmer L. Oliver, package liquor license.

OTHER ITEMS

Church said See Mor Cable TV had requested that its payment on its franchise fee be delayed. Church said he had informed the company that the delay was not allowed under the city's contract.

Charles Stamp Jr., has been named assistant city attorney. He recently joined the law firm of City Attorney Manuel Drumm.

Church said the fire department has been given the old radio used by the Scott County Sheriff's department. The radio will be used as the department base radio and is located at the Greer Street fire house.

The council appointed Walter Bizzell, 306 Powers, to the park board to replace Buddy Clayton who has resigned.

before and, from my experiences in the past, I know that he would not be misled."

"After conducting the test, he stated that, in his professional opinion, Dr. Garrison was truthful in stating that he was not in any way involved in his ex-wife's murder."

In Farese's opinion, the authorities acted a little too hastily in accusing the doctor. The warrant was issued against Dr. Garrison the afternoon of the day Mrs. Garrison's body was found.

The most important point in Garrison's favor is that quite a few people maintain they were with him in Mississippi on the day before and the actual day of the murder.

Sheriff Scott told The Daily Standard that the estimated time of death was between 8 and 9 a.m. on Sept. 8, and quoted his figures from the autopsy report.

At about 10 a.m. Sept. 8, several people say they saw Dr. Garrison on the boat dock at Pickwick Lake in Tishomingo County, Miss., which is less than two hours after the reported time of death (and possibly as soon as one hour after). Pickwick Lake is more than 200 miles from Kennett.

Another point in the doctor's favor is that the Kennett authorities theorized that Mrs. Garrison's assailant was wounded in the struggle that left her dead. The amount of blood left by the assailant as he left the premises suggests that he was severely wounded.

Yet, when Dr. Garrison was seen by residents of Corinth in the hours immediately following the murder, no one noticed that he was hurt in any way ... and when the FBI arrested the doctor, they reportedly examined him without finding wounds of any type, according to Farese.

At 10 a.m. Thursday, the question of Dr. Garrison's return to Missouri will be decided at an extradition hearing to be conducted in the offices of Mississippi Gov. Bill Waller in Jackson, Miss.

The hearing will not decide the doctor's ultimate fate. If extradited, he will face trial in Missouri at a later date to determine his actual guilt or innocence.

If extradition is denied, Garrison will still be unable to leave Mississippi, unless state and local charges are dropped, in the event of further extradition attempts by the state of Missouri.

At one time, Dr. Garrison faced federal charges, also, but the FBI dropped the charges several days later.

"The children have borne all this very well," said the doctor. "They're all right now." He fell silent, seemingly lost in thought.

"They are staying with my parents now," Dr. Garrison said.

The family thought it best that the children be given an environment as near normal as possible, one away from all thoughts of the crime. For this reason, and because of the warrant for Dr. Garrison's arrest in Kennett, neither the doctor nor his children were able to attend Mrs. Garrison's funeral.

Since the murder, Garrison has been plagued with self- recrimination. "I can't help but feel that if it weren't for our divorce, none of this would have happened," he reportedly told acquaintances in Mississippi.

"If I had still been there, she might never have gotten involved with the person who took her life. I hope they do catch the real murderer. He deserves to suffer the way my children have."

Following lunch at the home of his chief counsel, (Farese), the doctor rose from the table, fumbling in his pocket for a cigarette, and said, "Mrs. Farese, thank you for your very fine dinner and for your hospitality. I'm sorry I have to leave now, but I've a patient who's going to have a baby this afternoon, and I must get back ... Goodbye, and thank you all."

Farese left with the doctor and returned a few minutes later. "You wouldn't believe the doctor is only 32 years old," he said softly. "In one month he has aged 10 years. It's been quite a year for that poor family."

Charleston firm awarded trash contract

The City Council Tuesday night awarded the citywide trash collection contract to C and T Solid Waste of Charleston.

The council was unable to give final approval for a $600,000 bond issue to be on the November ballot because the resolution had not arrived from the bonding attorneys.

The council approved two liquor by the drink licenses and received five other license requests for sale of alcoholic beverages.

Additional funds to the park board were approved to cover expenses for the year. All bids were rejected for a new police car for the detectives.

C and T had submitted the low bid in September. The contract was awarded after an investigation was completed by City Manager Charles Church into the company and its ability to fulfil the contract.

Church said C and T, which is owned by James Carlisle of Charleston, has the equipment necessary to provide service, including two trucks on order. Church said the trucks are in stock at a dealer's in St. Louis and are available for immediate delivery.

Before the contract can be signed, Carlisle must put up a performance bond of $75,000.

Trash collection will begin Jan. 1, 1975 and the $2.75 monthly fee will be collected on the city water bill.

The collection is for residential areas only. Businesses will have to make their own arrangements.

Church issued a statement clarifying city policy on what can be burned in the city. He said there has been some confusion over what can be burned in the city and what cannot.

Until Jan. 1, "the city encourages residential homeowners to stop burning and use available collectors for disposal of solid waste," the policy reads.

"Burning of leaves and twigs will be permitted now and after Jan. 1 as long as they originate on the property on which they will be burned. The city will respond to rubbish burning complaints and request the individual responsible for the fire to eliminate the nuisance and control the fire properly."

After Jan. 1, there will be twice-a-week trash pickups, and the trash must be in containers of 20 gallons to 35 gallons and may not weigh more than 75 pounds.

There will be no limit on the number of containers nor on the amount of bundled limbs. The bundles may not exceed 48 inches in length or 18 inches in diameter, according to Church.

Burning will be prohibited except in incinerators approved by the Missouri Division of Health," he said.

The policy then lists the following exceptions to the burning band ceremonial fires, leaves twigs and vegetation originating on the land on which it is burned; burning of trees, tree trunks, and tree limbs resulting from land clearing operation as long as such operations take place at least 200 yard from the nearest dwelling; fires set for the purpose of instructing and training firemen; and fires set in connection with agricultural or forestry operations related to growing of harvesting crops.

BOND ISSUE

The ordinance approving a $600,000 bond issue for a new water treatment plant did not arrive from the city's bonding attorney and will have to be considered at 4 p.m. Thursday.

The bond issue will be on the November general election ballot.

One reason for the delay in receiving the ordinance was and inconsistency in the names of city voting wards. The city has referred to the wards and precincts by number, but the County Court has recently changed the numbers to names.

The council will probably agree to the change. Ward One, precinct one, will become Park precinct; Ward one, precinct two will be airport precinct; Ward two, precinct one, will be Allen precinct; Ward two precinct two, Sunset precinct; Ward three, precinct one, Delmar precinct; Ward three, precinct two, Clayton precinct; Ward four, precinct one, Armory precinct, and Ward four, precinct two, Broadway precinct.

POLICE CAR

The council rejected all bids for a new police car for the detectives after Goza Harper Motor Co. 225 E. Malone Ave., submitted a revised bid that was $6 lower than the previous low bid.

The revised bid was apparently submitted after Goza- Harper discovered what the lowest bid was, according to city officials.

The original bids were Goza Harper, $4,000; Jarvis Motor Co, $4,170; Sikeston Motor Co., $3,945.

PARK BOARD

The council approved a request from the park board for an additional appropriation of $8,210 to carry the board through this budget year. The funds will come out of the city contingency fund.

The board needed the funds to buy a new truck for $5,230 from Cooney Equipment Co., and number of other expenses not planned for.

Park Board Chairman Ernest Wilson told the council the board will need an extra $100,000 to maintain the new 140-acre city recreational complex next year.

Wilson said he was basing his estimate on the current cost of $47,000 for maintaining 70 acres of city parks.

Interchange study now under way

The Missouri State Highway Department is doing a cost- usage study to see if the proposed interchange at Interstate 55 and Route HH is feasible, according to Lionel T. Murray, District 10 engineer for the State Highway Department.

Murray made the statement today at a meeting with local representatives at the highway department building.

At the meeting were Charles Church, city manager; Frank Ferrell, mayor; Bill Wellborn, executive director of the Chamber of Commerce; Allen Blanton, Sikeston Industrial Development Corp. board member and Charles Mitchell, SIDC real estate advisor.

Murray said the intersection would probably be funded with State Highway Department money and would be in competition with other highway projects.

When asked what chance the intersection had of being built, Murray replied that if it didn't have a chance the work being done now would not have progressed as far as it has.

Murray said if the State highway department releases a negative report, local representatives can request a hearing with the State Highway Commission.

If the commission approves the project, it will be built, Murray said.

Both Wellborn and Church said it would be important for the city to present detailed information to the highway commission and said they would welcome any help from community citizens interested in the intersection project.

Garrison maintains innocence

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of a three- part series dealing with an investigation by Daily Standard State Editor Ron Jaynes and Special Correspondent Mark Geers into the brutal murder of Lee Ann Garrison. Today's article centers on an exclusive interview with Dr. Norman Asa Garrison Jr., the accused killer.)

ASHLAND, Miss. — Successful young professional men -- doctors, lawyers and executives -- are often characterized by an aura of comfortable self-assurance. They achieve success easily, almost effortlessly, it seems. Secure in the knowledge of their position and aware of their worth in the community, they are at ease in any situation.

"Garry" was once one of these secure young men, but now his aura, like his world, is crumbling around the edges. His blue eyes are clouded with the haunted look a man gets when his world is coming apart, and he doesn't know why.

"Garry" is Dr. Norman Asa Garrison Jr. He has been accused of murdering his former wife, Lee Ann Garrison, on Sept. 8 in Kennett, Mo.

Dunklin County Prosecuting Attorney Charles H. Baker filed charges of first degree murder against Dr. Garrison a few hours after Mrs. Garrison's oldest daughter found her mother's shot and brutally beaten body in the bedroom of their fashionable home a month ago today.

Lee Ann Garrison

Dr. Norman A. Garrison

Baker has not divulged any evidence linking Dr. Garrison to the murder, but Dunklin County Sheriff Raymond Scott has announced a portion of the evidence the Dunklin County authorities possess.

In a press release two weeks ago, the sheriff reported a plastic "surgeon's glove" and part of a pistol handle, both of which were bloody, had been found.

In addition, Scott reported that the authorities had found a bloody fingerprint on the chain- link fence surrounding the back yard of the Garrison residence.

Scott said his investigators had taken the print in the same manner they take any other: "dust it, tape it and put in on the card." He also said the print was taken from what he described as "fresh blood."

Garrison's attorneys have expressed doubts about this point, stating that a bloody print could not be dusted and taped and lifted properly.

One item of evidence the prosecuting attorney has refused to release is the autopsy report. In fact, Baker refuses even to discuss the report, saying it would not be proper for him to comment at this time on evidence in the case.

Presumably, the authorities believe the report contains some especially damaging evidence against the doctor and are saving it for a later date.

Dunklin County authorities have also stated that blood found at the scene of the crime was of the same type as Dr. Garrison's.

There is some confusion at this point, also. Earlier in the investigation, the blood was identified as being of a third type, a type possessed neither by the doctor nor his late former wife. The county authorities now deny that the blood was identified as a third type.

Early in the investigation, the authorities claimed to have found a witness who saw Dr. Garrison in Kennett about 3 p.m. on the day of the murder. Supposedly, the doctor was seen driving a blue Corvette around town a few hours after his ex-wife's body was found.

The doctor has maintained throughout the investigation, "I was not in Kennett. I was on a friend's houseboat that night. I didn't even hear of Lee Ann's death until a little after 3 o'clock that afternoon."

At that time, he says a former patient in Kennett called him and told him of his former wife's death.

Curiously, the former patient is supposed to have talked to the doctor in a long- distance telephone call from Kennett to Corinth sometime after 3 p.m., which is approximately the same time the alleged witness claimed to have seen Dr. Garrison in Kennett.

"I didn't murder my wife," Garrison continued "and I did not hire anyone to murder her, either. I did not conspire with anyone to have it done!" As Garrison spoke, his voice remained soft and even. No one else in the room made a sound as we all sat watching him intently.

One of Dr. Garrison's lawyers, John B. Farese Sr., said he asked Garrison to submit to a lie detector test after he had entered the case.

"I wanted to satisfy myself that the doctor was telling me the truth," Farese said.

"The polygraph examiner that I hired to conduct the test is one of the best men in his field. I've retained him

Sales tax proposal won't be on ballot

The drive to bring a city sales tax proposition to the voters in the November general election has run out of time, according to Mayor Frank Ferrell.

Ferrell said the Citizens Advisory Committee, which was asked to draw up a list of priorities for the sales tax, was unable to complete its work in time. The committee has held only one meeting.

The city will probably hold a special election on the proposal in early spring, Ferrell said.

The city began considering the sales tax after it became apparent that present city revenue would not be able to supply the city the funds it needs.

A statement at the City Council meeting Tuesday night by Park Board chairman Ernest Wilson estimating it would take another $100,000 a year to maintain the new 140- acre recreational complex is another indication that the city needs more money.

Ferrell said he thought Wilson's estimate was probably too high, Council John Houchin said income from the concession stand would pay part of the maintenance costs.

Still, Ferrell said, the cost to the city of maintaining the new park will be high.

The city needs the sales tax, he added.

Ferrell was not on the City Council when the decision to build the complex was made, but he said he thought if those councilmen had known the cost of the complex and the expense of maintaining it, they "would have taken a closer look at it."

Juveniles arrested in series of thefts

Two juveniles have been arrested and three more arrests are expected today in connection with a series of thefts in Sikeston over the past two months, according to Scott County Deputy Sheriff Gerald Inman.

Inman said the juveniles were arrested Monday night and three others are expected to be arrested after school today.

The juveniles are all between 11 and 16 years old, Inman said.

The break-ins involved the sheltered workshop at the airport, a truck at Terminix International, 1623 E. Malone Ave., the Old Ferrell License Bureau, batteries from a house on Kentucky Road, two tires from Sonny Presley Chevrolet, 127 W. Center St., and tools from a truck parked at the Kay Apartments on West Kathleen Street.

The sheltered workshop has been broken into five times in the past five weeks. The latest breakin was Saturday or Sunday when $5 in change was taken from a soft drink machine.

Inman said not all the victims were aware of the thefts. He said the investigation was still continuing in the thefts.

Tempers flare over road

BENTON — Tempers flared Monday between Members of the Scott County Court and Wes Schlosser of Oran when he appeared before the court to complain about a road he charged the court with failing to maintain.

According to Schlosser, the court blacktopped the road — located seven miles west of Oran approximately four years ago and promised to maintain it, but has not done so.

In protesting the maintenance of the road, Schlosser said he had also been informed that the court was going to install a culvert across the road which would cause water to flood other farm land.

The judges informed Schlosser that they had no intention of doing this and didn't know where he could have heard such information.

Schlosser told the judges that he had called them several times concerning the road, and his calls had never been returned. "I have put over $1,000 in the road and haven't received any good out of it, and other people who have not put any money in it are receiving the benefits," Schlosser said.

Schlosser then stated that if something is not done about the road now, it will be worthless this winter.

"I don't want to be mad at the court but things are just not going right," Schlosser asserted.

Second District Associate Judge Louie Hirschowitz told Schlosser that some people have been waiting as long as 10 years for work on roads and nothing had been done.

Schlosser said he had appeared before the court once before and was told not to come back in with that type of junk again. The three judges denied the statement, and Presiding Judge Les Lankford stated, "I wouldn't talk to anyone that way."

Schlosser remarked that if a culvert is installed across the road, it would be for the benefit of a certain individual whose name he would not mention, and he told the judges he would take court action if it is installed.

Schlosser said he had appeared before the court at least five times concerning the road and nothing had been done, yet the judges could not remember their conversations with him.

"I wish I had brought a tape recorder with me when I talked with you on previous occasions... if I had this would be another Benton Watergate," Schlosser declared.

The judges told Schlosser they would review the situation.

Warning system installed

A disaster warning system using special radios has been installed in Scott County schools, hospitals and small communities, according to Glenn Greene, Scott County Civil Defense Director.

Greene said the radios are tone alert receivers similar to the kind the fire department uses to notify volunteers of a fire.

A total of 33 units have been installed at a cost of $5,500.

Greene said the radios will be activated in the event of a national or natural disaster.

"Our main concerns in Scott County are tornadoes, tornado warning alerts or flash floods," Greene said.

He said using the radio will reduce the time needed to notify schools, hospitals and towns. Formerly, the warnings were issued over the telephone.

The radios are activated from a base station in the office of Scott County Sheriff John Dennis in Benton. In the event of a power failure there, Greene can activate the radios from his car.

Greene said the radios operate on both AC and DC power and are battery equipped.

Federal civil defense funds paid for half the cost of the radios, the other half was paid by the recipient of the radios, Greene said.

THE CONCEPTION
OF AMERICA

If America was born in 1776, it was conceived sometime between September 1 and October 26, 1774, at the First Continental Congress in Philadelphia. It was here, in Carpenter's Hall, that the colonial fathers came to the agreement to work together, and fight if necessary, in united opposition to the tyranny of King George and General Gage.

Not that all of the great ideas which sprang from the Convention were entirely new. The tide of rebellion had been swelling for a long time. The Stamp Act had been a bone of contention since 1665. British tea had been dumped into Boston harbor by the "indians" in 1773. The slogan, "United we conquer, divided we die" had been a watchword for more than six years; now it was simply updated to: UNITED WE STAND, DIVIDED WE FALL.

They were all there; Patrick Henry, Peyton Randolph (who was elected President), Charles Thompson (who was elected Secretary), Sam Adams and his younger cousin, John; George Washington, and from New Hampshire, John Sullivan, who could not have imagined then that he was to be a major general under Washington in a bitter revolutionary war;Samuel Ward of Rhode Island, John Jay of New York, and Christopher Gadsden of South Carolina .. great men, all.

Not that the Congress was easy sailing. Many grave problems had to be faced for the first time in history. There was debate over the matter of "one man, one vote." The issue was decided when Patrick Henry declared: "The distinctions between Virginians, Pennsylvanians, New Yorkers and New Englanders are no more. I am not a Virginian, but an American." It was one colony, one vote.

Nor was it at all easy for the delegates to turn against the mother country, no matter how grievious the provocations. Each step in that direction was taken reluctantly, and not without agony of heart and conscience. The meetings dragged on, the debates were long. Impetuous John Adams complained that the delegates were "fearful, timid, skittish ... one-third Tory, one-third Whig, one-third mongrel."

If there was any one time in the convention that might be termed a turning point, it was when Paul Revere arrived at a gallop, having been delegated by Joseph Warren to rush from Boston to Philadelphia "with all speed" with a copy of the Suffolk Resolves, just adopted by the Sons of Liberty in Massachusetts. The Resolves stated flatly "that no obedience is due from this Province to ... the recent acts of Parliament, but that they should be rejected as the attempts of a wicked administration to enslave America." Further, patriots were to "acquaint themselves with the art of war as soon as possible, and ... appear under arms at least once a week."

The Suffolk Resolves were unanimously adopted by the Continental Congress on September 18, 1774.

The colonies were ready to bring forth a new nation.

CURTIS CAVE-IN

If Thomas B. Curtis is not trying to inject the issue of mental health in Missouri's U. S. Senate campaign, then he is doing an excellent imitation of one doing exactly that. The Republican candidate saw to it this week that the mental health of Senator Thomas F. Eagleton did become an issue, despite disclaimers from Curtis that no such intent was planned.

When he conferred earlier in the campaign with this newspaper, Curtis said on his own volition that he did not intend to discuss Senator Eagleton's mental health history, stating he did not believe it was relevant to issues that were far more important to the state's voters. We accepted Curtis at his word, for we believed him to be an honorable man who would not permit the innuendos of poor mental health of his opponent to mar his long and distinguished political history.

What has occurred in recent days, however, raises more questions about Curtis than it does about Eagleton.

First, Curtis took the trouble to reply to a letter which was critical of his campaign, written to him by a woman living in the St. Louis area. That he took the time to respond to such a letter during his hectic schedule raises some questions about Curtis' real intent in answering the complaint.

Not content with simply mailing the letter to the woman who had inquired about his campaign tactics, Curtis made certain that some newspapers received copies of his reply. Interestingly, this newspaper did not receive a copy of the letter written to Curtis.

Curtis could have acted without the knowledge that at least one political writer in the state, who has been advising him to make Eagleton's mental history an issue in the campaign, would not act upon what he had written. Slipping his response to this particular writer was certain to trigger publicity.

We agree with Senator Eagleton that perhaps no candidate below the presidency has had his health, mental or physical, more widely discussed, debated and inspected. The mark of mental health, unlike that of physical health, is the ability of the person to function in society, to perform his or her job in a responsibile, normal pattern of behavior. This is the criteria exercised by psychiatrists and psychologists. Senator Eagleton meets this criteria quite admirably, functioning effectively and well, within and without the halls of the U. S. Senate. As a first term Senator, he has compiled an admirable record of representing his constituency, has authored a vast number of important bills, has served as chairman of a Senate committee and numerous subcommittees, has visited the state an inordinate number of times to visit with Missourians and keep his political fences mended, and has even found time to write a book. Despite this gruelling schedule, the Senate at the Truman Day Rally at Poplar Bluff was, empirically speaking, in excellent mental health.

As almost everyone in the nation knows, Senator Eagleton was hospitalized on three occasions for depression, a not- uncommon syndrome that attacks persons who lead gruelling schedules and take few precautions to lead a balanced life. On two or three occasions when he was hospitalized, Eagleton entered on his own volition following gruelling state- wide education conference. Since that time, more than eight years ago, he has developed a different life style, has learned to pace himself in a more acceptable manner, and has relied on others to perform some of the duties of the world.

Curtis says that Eagleton's non-discussion of the issue is "unfair to George McGovern." Gee, that's more concern about McGovern than we have seen expressed by anyone except his verbose wife in two years. We were not aware that Curtis had grown so fond of the Dakota Senator, his dubious political views and the integrity of good old George. As far as we're concerned the only fair thing for George McGovern is a defeat at the polls next month in his home state. Maybe Curtis would like to endorse McGovern in his race for the Senate; George certainly doesn't have many Democrats supporting him these days.

We're disappointed in Tom Curtis. His standing in the pre-election polls is disastrously low, and this latest tactic does not enhance his reputation. It will not, we predict, enhance his standing at the polls either.

We believed Curtis when he said the past mental health of Tom Eagleton was not going to be an issue in this race as far as he was concerned. We feel betrayed because we believed Tom Curtis to be an honorable man, a man of his word, a man of solid conviction.

This latest Curtis tactic doesn't do much for our political mental health at all.

HOW MUCH MORE
MUST THEY PAY?

It is difficult to understand the reasoning behind a recent decision by the U. S. Supreme Court upholding a California law that bars felons who have completed their sentences from voting in state and local elections.

If the purpose of the penal system is not merely to punish but to rehabilitate lawbreakers and return them to society as useful citizens, denying them one of the most basic rights of citizenship even after they have served their time would seem to defeat that purpose.

This is not rehabilitation but a continuation of punishment.

We hear much about the dehumanizing aspects of prison life. But the overwhelming majority of inmates in the nation's penal institutions will not be there permanently. There is a constant turnover as men are parolled and others take their places. Unfortunately, many of those entering prison have been there before, and will be there again.

This suggests that there is something wrong not only with our prisons but with our postprison treatment of those who have supposedly "paid their debt" to society.

In any event, it is hard to see how society would be injured by permitting an ex-convict to cast a ballot for local dog- catcher or mayor or even the judge who sent him up in the first place and, according to the odds, may send him up again.

AN AMERICAN
ANSWER

Even the most virulent critics of American medicine are slow to question the medical competence of U.S. physicians. The issue appears mainly to be how to deliver that competence to the most people at the lowest possible cost.

Many of the most vociferous critics take the simplest and most demagogic approach. They advodate a monolithic national health insurance program at a cost of some $60 billion. In a very real sense, this country already has national health insurance of a kind that can be meshed with developing government health care programs and still avoid obliterating the principles of voluntarism and the private practice of medicine. A statement on national health policy prepared by the largest private organization for the financing of medical services in the country reviews the broad and complex problems of health and health care delivery in the United States. On the matter of financing health care, it says, "... the objectives of a national program for better health can best be met, to the extent that they require financing of personal health services, through underwritten coverage. This should be purchased by government from private carriers on behalf of the poor and the medically indigent. The medically indigent should participate, on a scale compatible with their resources, in the costs of their coverage ... to achieve the most efficient use of the public funds available ... A realistic system of qualification of carriers should be developed, based upon their ability to serve the reasonable needs and expectations of the public ..."

Instead of copying the failures of other nations in the field of national health insurance, the U. S. should capitalize upon the unique asset of a voluntary insurance program that is already established. This the American answer to an American problem.

HARDLY WAIT

The elderly couple sat in rocking chairs on their front porch and slowly rocked to and fro.

"The years are passing us by, Sarah," said the old man.

"Yes," she agreed.

"We're getting older," he said, "and pretty soon only one of us will be left."

"That's right," she said, "and when that happens, I'm moving to California."

LEADING THE WAY

Mr. C. Howard Hardesty, Jr., executive vice president of the Continental Oil Company, feels it is up to business to present in every manner possible the great truths that have made our country the most productive and the most advanced of any land in all of recorded history He strikes hard at what he defines as "antipreneurs" which are the antithesis of entrepreneurs -- builders, creators, developers of the new and untried.

Mr. Hardesty says, "'Antipreneurs' -- single - minded, persistent, and totally myopic critics of businessmen" have converted the United States "from a nation that once respected initiative and economic achievement, that honored the rags - to - riches hero, to a nation that imputes to its businessmen the most venal motives an;most despicable conduct, that is coming to idolize the reverse - twist, riches - to - rags anti-hereo.' As Mr. Hardesty points out, critics of business and industry should be required to operate under the same ground rules and laws of disclosure and accuracy to which businessmen are subjected. One of the reasons the nation faces an energy shortage is public confusion caused by those who apparently see an ulterior motive in every effort of oil companies to broaden and strengthen the energy base of the nation.

Mr. Hardesty concludes by emphasizing that industry must open up its knowledge and experience to young Americans. "It's our job," he says, "to give them a true insight into what goes on and the good things the muckraker ignores. One fact is clear -- the world is changing and society has the right to expect us to lead and not follow."

OUR SCHOOLS

Our public schools and universities and colleges are well under way in the new fall semester, equipping our young citizens for their future roles of leadership and work. The products of these institutions of learning determine the future of the nation and so it is right for adults to take a hard look at the school systems in their communities to see what can be done to help the educational process. Of paramount importance is the selection, by ballot, of energetic leaders to sit on school boards, for it is here that vital policies are set.

It is also appropriate to survey the national problem of school busing. We now see disturbances at the schools in the North just as we once witnessed them in the early days of integration in the South. Violence is not compatible with good education. Neither is the cross-town busing of children.

Strong, definitive action by the Congress is needed to correct the abuses that school busing across town creates. Children should be educated at the schools in their nieghborhoods. A high court decision limiting busing across district lines does not go far enough. Busing creates a dangerous traffic threat and it should be eliminated except in rural areas where children must be brought in by common carriers.

Now is the time to get our children at the desks in the school houses closest to home. The U.S. Congress will yield to public opinion in this vital matter if enough pressure is put on the legislators. HLH

WHERE ARE THEY NOW?

WASHINGTON -- Less than a year ago everyone was hard at work vowing to conserve fuel. Americans had pledged themselves to finding new ways of saving energy and making the United States self-sufficient when it came to oil.

In the interests of finding out what has been done in the past 12 months, I did a personal "Where Are They Now?" research project.

This is what I found.

C. Carruthers Ringold, chairman of the board of General Chrysford, the largest manufacturer of automobiles, is still in Detroit pushing the sales of large cars.

When he was reminded he promised last fall that General Chrysford would devote its efforts to the production of small cars that would not consume so much gasoline, Ringold replied, "No one is going to tell us what kind of automobiles to make. The profits are in the large cars and that's what the public wants. When America wants small cars we'll make them. If it wasn't for the environmental nuts, there would be more than enough gasoline for everybody."

Alan K. Lomitil, who was one of the first organizers of car pooling in Fairfax County, Va., is now driving to work alone. "Car pooling is a drag," Alan told me. "Who wants to talk to four other guys every morning? I think a man's automobile is his castle and there is no reason he should share it with anybody else."

Mrs. Helen Klinger, the principal of PS 145, said that she no longer believed in keeping the thermostate in her school down at 68. "We froze our tushies off last year," she told me, "and we don't intend to do it again. Congress ought to investigage the oil and gas companies and find out where the heat is (ital) really (unital) going. Heavens knows the schools aren't getting any of it."

Gaylord Prather, the advertising account executive for Windfall of New Mexico Gasoline Co., is still turning out copy, but the conservation campaign has been abandoned. "Since our business is selling gasoline, it's counterproductive to ask people to use less of it. Sure it didn't hurt last year to say we were worried about future fuel supplies and we were doing everything to see that America would never have to do without. But I'll tell you one thing, the campaign didn't sell a gallon of gas. If anything, it scared people and they didn't care what brand of gasoline they bought. So we said the hell with it -- the company has to come first."

Congressman Gunther Zilch, who led the fight for energy conservation last February, is not sure whether he's for it now. "This is an election year," Zilch told me, "and it's hardly the time to ask people to make sacrifices. Heaven knows the voter has enough to worry about without asking him to give up the comforts of home and the road."

I went over to the Department of Transportation and spoke to one of the top officials. "Last year you people said you were going to have a crash program in mass urban transportation so people would use buses and trains again instead of private cars. Are you still going ahead with it?" He replied, "Yes, we're doing a study on it right now and it should be ready by 1985."

Prof. Heinrich Applebaum who last year predicted that shale oil would solve all our problems for the next 500 years now has doubts about it. "That stuff is really hard," Applebaum said. "I mean squeezing oil out of a rock is some stupid way of getting fuel. Anyone who thinks we're going to solve our energy problems with shale oil in the near future is off his rocker. I don't know why the press takes people like me seriously."

Inside Cabinet Room: National Labor Chiefs 'Amazed' By Ford's 'Naive' Anti- Inflation Strategy

WASHINGTON — To some of the powerful labor chiefs, business tycoons and bankers who sat around the Cabinet Room last Thursday afternoon, (10/3) it just didn't all seem quite real. The good and genial Jerry Ford appeared to have leapfrogged back one presidential generation to Lyndon Johnson's passion for turning out the White House lights to save money.

One participant at this first national Labor- Management Committee conference with the President, departed thinking that the "unclobberable Mr. Ford" had a naive streak in him as big as his heart. And you've got to have heart. Another conferee said ruefully the President is "big on the storm window thing." Get the citizenry to fight the oil shortage by sealing up the cracks to prevent the warmth from seeping out.

President Ford saw the big energy counteroffensive as a sort of vast consumer crusade -- enrollment of the citizenry in a drive to decrease their demand for oil. The tough, cynical broad- spectrumed national leaders on the committee who talked with him and three of his economic strategists, Bob Hartmann, Bill Seidman and Bill Simon, were amazed by the performance. Very sincere. But no realism.

They had come expecting hard- nosed talk. At 3 p.m. they "organized" themselves. Harvard's truly brilliant Dean John Dunlop, as "Neutral Coordinator," the magic mediator, directed them. At 3:30 in came President Ford. He chaired the session.

Rarely has there been such camaraderie. The lions were sitting down with the White House lambs – labor chief George Meany, steel corporation spokesman Heath Larry, banker Walter Wriston, newcomer lawyer- labor leader of the men's clothing union, Murray Finley, et al. Men who deal daily in swift decisions. (The Teamsters didn't show.)

But none were made Thursday afternoon. The President said he was glad to see them, asked them for input and then spoke of what best is described as a big public relations push on the energy and inflation fronts.

For example, the administration thought it would be a great idea to fight inflation with propaganda buttons. "I'm an Inflation Fighter" legend pinned to the lapel or dress front. Gently some of the labor men didn't quite agree. They wanted tough and immediate action. They're pragmatists. Later, one of their advisers pointed out that "unemployment in the construction field is a catastrophe ... joblessness has increased 1.2 million since October a year ago. We'll hit over 6 million without work shortly."

But little hard action was laid on the Cabinet table. Part of the reason may be in the President's lack of economic stabilization power. During the Nixon years such power eroded. The Defense Act of Korean War time was wiped out by the 1970 Economic Stabilization Act. This in turn was wiped out by the Congress last April. So any real action on the paid- price front must come from Congress -- which is allergic to the White House, even under Mr. Clean.

So, perhaps he's going to the men who can influence the Congress. They were all in the room with him.

And they will be conferring again and again. Perhaps this was Mr. Ford's moment for a soft- sell beginning. Perhaps this was his way of saying the best he would do is to go to the people, get them to slash consumption of fuel, thus telling the oil- exporting nations that their market could go tight on the Middle East petroleum producers.

But the powerful men from the labor, industrial and banking executive suites had other problems. At least one major world- famed corporation employing several hundred thousand workers is virtually bankrupt. The banking and money markets are in near chaos. Union leaders see prices skyrocketing beyond the range of new scales for which they can push their employers for increased pay next year.

In some labor circles the word is that not only the Russians but their satellites and the Peking Chinese are in the U.S. buying food and grains on which they can offer a price -- any price. I underplay this though more than rumor has it that the Sino- Soviet rivals are stockpiling in advance of renewed heavy Asian border warfare.

Reports of corn, green beans, soy beans and other grain shortages are pouring in. At the rate of nine pounds of "feed" to fatten a calf by one pound, the cattle raisers are saying they'll lose $50 a head. This is bound to zoom prices by March or April -- prices of food, bread and meat.

So it was difficult for the well- versed members of the Labor- Management Committee to share Jerry Ford's enthusiasm over the citizens' crusade. He's really very serious over this consumer campaign. It's not just rhetoric.

But if he persists he will find himself very "clobberable." And perhaps without some of his committee members, President Ford talks quite a bit about biting the bullet while the labor leaders are baiting the ballot. After that deluge will come the tidal strike wave.

The good President will learn what Lyndon Johnson did after turning out the lights. In the word of the late President's daughter, the White House became "the darkest place in town." The people seek leadership. They do not lead.

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:
Not Long for White House

WASHINGTON -- President Ford's new staff chief, Donald Rumsfeld, won't be around the White House more than six months.

Sources in the President's confidence say he needed someone in a hurry to replace Alexander Haig, who had headed former President Nixon's White House staff.

The President, therefore, summoned Rumsfeld whom he actually had in mind to be the next Secretary of Defense. Our sources say Ford still intends to send the able Rumsfeld to preside over the Pentagon.

The President wanted to get rid of Haig, say our sources, because he held too tight a rein on the White House staff, which looked to him instead of Ford's people for their orders.

The President's plans for Rumsfeld, of course, means Secretary of Defense James Schlesinger will be dropped from the cabinet. This will be a victory of Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, who has been feuding with Schlesinger over foreign- military policy.

WATCH ON WASTE: About 180 welfare officials gathered on exotic Frenchman's Reef in the Virgin Islands late last month to discuss the plight of the poor.

Choosing from a menu "laden with a host of superb continental specialties," they dined in lazy luxury as they talked about the hunger that is gaining in impoverished neighborhoods.

One conference session, for example, dealt with food stamp programs. It was presided over by an Agriculture Department official who was flown in from Washington, $169 round trip.

When the problems of poverty became too depressing, the welfare officials could escape into the coral waters for "free snorkel lessons," or on afternoon tours of the Virgin Island paradise.

The delegates came from 31 states and regions. At least 10 federal officials from the Health, Education and Welfare Department slipped down to the Virgin Islands for the conference, at a minimum cost to the taxpayers of $200 apiece, including hotel accomodations.

A spokesman for the American Public Welfare Association, which sponsored the frolic, explained to us: "We hold the conferences in a different region every year, and this was the first time for the Virgin Islands."

YOSEMITE STORY: There is more to the story of how Yosemite National Park, with scenery no Hollywood studio could duplicate, became the backdrop for the TV series "Sierra."

We published the first installment on September 15. The Music Corporation of America, we reported, had taken over the camping and catering concessions in Yosemite in late 1973.

Not long afterwards, film crews belonging to an MCA subsidary turned up in the park to film the "Sierra" series. Although nature provided them with some of the most spectacular scenery in the world, we reported, the Hollywood hotshots tried to improve it by painting the rocks in one area.

The "Sierra" TV shows are now appearing on the NBC network, which should be good for MCA's camping and catering business in Yosemite. The program's producer, Bob Cinader, denies that the series was created to promote tourism in the park. But here, at least, are some curious coincidences:

— The series was not proposed to MCA, as usually happens, but MCA initiated it. "Somebody upstairs got the idea" for the show, Cinader acknowledged.

— The pilot show, originally titled "Park Ranger," was a sad flop. The scenery outperformed the actors, and only a bear impressed the test audiences. Yet miraculously, MCA was able to peddle the series to NBC. "They bought it in spite of the pilot," said Cinader.

— The producers had trouble completing the scripts and casting the actors. Off-duty park rangers were used as production assistants. Production costs were high, with each episode costing about $60,000 more than programs filmed on studio lots.

Whether or not MCA planned it that way, the company could make up the extra costs in the tourist business that the TV series chould attract to Yosemite. Cinader's comment on this: "There is no attempt made in the show to indicate that the park is Yosemite."

SHORT REPLY: Marguerite Steed, granddaughter of Rep. Tom Steed, D-Okla., signed on as an interne last summer in the office of House Speaker Carl Albert.

In the manner of young people, she struck up a summer romance with the Speaker's son, David. Young Albert, like his father, is short in size. And Marguerite, like her grandfather, is a talker.

Congressman Steed jokingly asked his granddaughter one day what might result if a Steed should be crossed with an Albert. She retorted without hesitation: "A long- winded midget."

Hayti to buy police cars

HAYTI — The Hayti City Council voted unanimously last week to purchase two new police cars for the city in a special meeting called to deal with police matters.

Mayor Fred Chaffin presented a financing statement and security agreement between the city and Bank of Hayti for the purchase of two 1974 Ford police cars. The total amount of the loan is $9,360.35, with 19 consecutive monthly installments to be made in the amount of $493.65 each, beginning Nov. 1.

It is the first time the city has ever bought police cars for its officers. In the past, police officers used their own cars.

The cars were purchased from Boyd Bros. Ford.

Alderman H. R. Euell, a representative of the Hayti police commission, presented a list of rules and regulations for police cars to other members of the council.

The council voted to approve the contents of the list, effective immediately.

The salaries for the police department as recommended by the mayor, police committee and the City Council went into effect with the approval of the rules and regulations. Raises were given to all officers except the police chief, who cannot receive a raise while in office.

Chief of Police salary is $600 per month, plus $125 expenses; lieutenant salary, $500 per month; sergeant salary, $477 per month; patrolmen salary, $462 per month; and extra policemen, $2 per hour.

The council agreed that gas purchased for the police cars should be purchased on a monthly basis from licensed service stations in Hayti. City Clerk Marcele Russell was instructed to write a letter to each station owner informing them of the city's intention and asking their cooperation.

Euell suggested that for record keeping purposes, the cars be numbered as light blue with vinyl top, No. 1, and dark blue with hardtop, No. 2. It was also suggested that this number be on each gas ticket and that the ticket be signed by the officer operating the car at that time.

In other business not pertaining to the police department, there was a discussion concerning the appointment of a city attorney to fill the vacancy left by James A. "Tick" Vickrey. Alderman John Turnage suggested that the new attorney not be required to attend all council meetings but that he would be subject to call when needed.

The council then voted to appoint Byron Luber of Caruthersville as Hayti's new attorney. A monthly salary of $325 to Luber was also approved by the council.

The final action by the council was authorizing payment to James Cordell for the installation of new pumps and equipment at the master list station, subject to approval by the city's consulting engineer.

Feemster found slain

SCOTT CITY — A former Scott City man was found shot to death Sunday in the St. Louis County home of his estranged wife, who was held for questioning.

The victim was identified as James Feemster, 46, a St. Louis area construction worker.

St. Louis County authorities said the shooting took place early Sunday in the home of his estranged wife, Mrs. Betty Feemster, 36, of Edmonson Terrace.

Officials said the incident was not reported until 20 hours later.

Authorities said the body was found in the basement. The shooting, however, appeared to have occurred in the kitchen.

Police officers found a .22- caliber rifle apparently used in the shooting, but did not say to whom it belonged. Officers also did not say how the body was apparently moved from the kitchen to the basement.

Charges had not been filed against Mrs. Feemster as of Monday, authorities said.

Details of the incident were sketchy, but Feemster apparently went to the house either late Saturday or early Sunday to talk with his wife, officers said.

The couple had been separated for some time, and Mrs. Feemster had custody of four of their five children, according to St. Louis County authorities.

Feemster was the son of Mrs. F. R. Feemster of Scott City and the late F. R. Feemster.

Feemster was born Sept. 8, 1929 in Little Rock, Ark., but spent most of his childhood in the Illmo- Scott City area. He was a gradute of the former Fornfelt High School and served in the Marine Corps.

Other survivors include five children, Jean, Janet, Jimmy, Jennifer and Jacquelyn, and two brothers, Robert Feemster of Poplar Bluff and Ron Feemster of California.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Council asked to approve funds for foam generator

DEXTER — Fire Chief Al Banken Monday asked the City Council to approve funds for a firefighting foam generator.

"You have to see it in action to believe it," he said. "It's a good piece of equipment. It can cut down on water damage, it is good for electrical and gasoline fires, and there are plenty of cases in Dexter where it could be used."

Following a demonstration of the equipment Sept. 17 for Mayor Willis Conner and the council, the mayor admitted that he was impressed.

The equipment is owned by Waters Automatic Fire Protection Co. of Sikeston and costs less than $2,000, Banken said.

"I recommend we buy that piece of equipment," he told the council, adding that a pickup truck could be purchased to transport the equipment. "It will cost more," he said, "but it will be worth it."

Alderman Leslie Day asked if the foam would be used when there was a fire in just one room of a house, or the regular firefighting technique.

"I'd have to go with the foam," Banken said. "The foam would cause much less damage to the property."

"I'm definitely interested; it's an amazing machine," Conner said, "But can we afford it?" He instructed Banken to look into the total cost of the machine and to make a report to the council.

A recommendation by City Collector Charles Bland that the price for city automobile license stickers be increased was rejected.

"There's no need for it," Alderman Robert Curtis said. "If we make all the car owners in the city who don't have stickers get them, we'll have enough revenue that we won't need to raise the price."

The council voted to keep the same rate but to make a renewed effort to enforce the ordinance requiring every resident car owner to have a city sticker.

Following discussion of a request by a church for permission to reserve a stretch of public street for parking on Sunday morning, the council rejected the request.

"I think it's a bunch of bull," one alderman said, "it's like saying you can't park on the street unless you go to church."

"It would set a bad precedent," Alderman Doren Vancil said. "If we set aside space for one church, then any church in town could come here and demand a stretch of public street for private use."

A license was granted to the Hickory House restaurant to sell liquor by the drink.

The board considered what to do with the parking meters removed from the former city parking lot beside Stovall's store.

"We have more meters now than we need," Alberman Eldon Cooper said.

"They don't pay off, that's for sure," Conner said.

"Unless somebody hollers to put them in, let's just leave them out," Vancil said.

The council decided to go along with Vancil's suggestion, using the meters as replacements for the ones presently in use when they wear out. The meters are currently stored in the city jail.

Conner reported that the park board has agreed to take over operation of the swimming pool. In other action, the council authorized street superintendent Roy Jackson to take whatever steps are necessary to remove roots in the way of construction of new city sidewalks, and decided to keep the group insurance plan already in effect.

Conner also reported that City Clerk George McCracken was still in serious condition from a stroke he suffered several weeks ago.

4 arrested

Police today announced four arrests, they include Septoria Antipas of Chicago, Ill., public intoxication; J. B. Hall, 207 Lafayette, Charleston, driving while intoxicated; Gregory Lynn Knuckles, Route Four, speeding; Minne Howve Taylor, 401 Lions, peace disturbance.

As many as 3,000 farm lives are claimed and some 400,000 disabling injuries occur each year in farm work and home accidents.

ON SECOND MORTGAGES

When mortgage money is plentiful, the subject of second mortgages is academic because lower down payments are common and lending institutions are looking for borrowers for mortgage money.

However, the picture changes when money is tight. In this situation, higher down payments on the mortgage are expected and mortgage takeovers are rare or non-existent.

The second mortgage on the property carries a higher interest rate and a shorter repayment time - usually from three to five years. The reason for this is the higher risk involved because the second mortgage cannot be satisified in case of default until after the first mortgage is paid off.

The second mortgage can be an excellent way to complete the sale of property which would otherwise fall by the wayside. Listen very closely to your Realtor in this situation because every case is different and professional expertise is a MUST.

Chaffee council hires new police officer

CHAFFEE — The Chaffee City Council Monday night voted to hire Charles Benson of Jackson as a new police officer.

Mayor Sally Wehmeyer said Benson will be on a six-months probation period.

A motion was tabled by the council to hire Dale Coats as a full time police chief. Mayor Wehmeyer said that although his six- month probation period was up, he has not had his physical physical examination which is required by the council.

A petition was presented to the council concerning the removal of R. T. Cobb from the Chaffee Special Road District, because, according to employes, they have been unable to work with him satisfactorily. The council informed the committee that it would place the petition on its record but that the decision would be up to the Scott County Court to discharge Cobb and suggested it present petitions to Presiding Judge Les Lankford.

A committee was appointed to investigate the possibility of annexation of an area on the west side of Highway 77. Appointed to the committee were Carlof Crump, George Allwood, N. O. Rigdon. The council also voted to keep the bridge closed over Heeb Creek, located on South Main St., leading to the housing project.

The bridge will remain closed until construction is completed.

Building permits were approved for William McGuire, 517 N. 5th St., for a garage, $1,500; Dan Davenport, Box 89, for a new carport, $1,260; Gene Stubb, 109 S. 3rd St., for a carport, $840; Ben Kirn, 127 Gray St., for a front porch, $200; Dick Smiley, 201 Robin Hood Circle, for a new home, $28,000; Jacob Statler, 411 West Yokam, for a carport, $400.

Fire destroys cotton bales

KENNETT — Fire destroyed more than 20 bales of cotton on the loading platform at the East 84 Cotton Gin east of Kennett late Friday night.

Cause of the blaze was not determined.

The Kennett fire department stayed at the scene almost three hours after being summoned there around 11:30 p.m.

Twenty full bales of cotton were destroyed and several partial bales were badly damaged by the blaze which also damaged the metal roof over the loading platform where the bales had been placed.

Volleyball team adds pair of wins.

The Sikeston High School girls volleyball team added a pair of wins to their record Monday night by defeating Poplar Bluff's girls in the Sikeston High School field house.

The Sikeston teams controlled both games and were never challenged by the inexperienced Poplar Bluff crews, according to Coach Jane Merrick.

Sikeston High School won the A-team games by scores of 15-10 and 15-7 although two of the regular starters for Sikeston were out of action.

In the B-team games, the Sikeston team won by scores of 15-9 and 15-6 as Emma Wells, Kelly Hill and Debra Schuette contributed the majority of points in both games.

The Sikeston A-team now has two wins and two losses, while the B-team boasts three wins and one loss.

The Sikeson team travels to Bloomfield tonight for a 6:30 doubleheader which Coach Merrick expects to be tough because Bloomfield is a member of the Stoddard County Conference, where volleyball competition has been underway for several years.

SHS tennis team defeated

The temperature dropped to about 40 degrees Monday night and the skies were dark, but a persistent crowd remained at Central Park to watch the tie- breaking doubles match in which the Cape Girardeau Central girls tennis team pulled out a 6-5 victory over the Sikeston High School girls.

Although the Sikeston team was defeated in the tie-breaker, 8-6, the evening proved an exciting one for players and fans alike as the teams fought to a 5-5 deadlock at the end of regular match play.

"Most of the girls were executing very well yesterday and were going to the net better," Coach Berta Schuerenberg reported today. She explained that most of the Sikeston girls are used to playing baseline tennis, and she has been working to get them to go to the net more.

The girls are also doing better on placing their shots, but still need some work in this area, she said.

In the tie- breaking doubles match, the excitement of the evening's play continued as the teams battled to a 5-5 tie. The Cape Girardeau team then jumped ahead, 7-5, but the Sikeston team came back to narrow the gap to 7-6 before losing, 8-6.

Mary Lowney, the No. 2 Sikeston singles player, tied Sara Jones, 8-8, before losing the match, 10-8.

Marilyn Neel played the same opponent she had faced last week and, although last week's game ended with a tie- breaker, her Cape Central opponent won this week's match, 8-6.

Mary Sikes and Lynn Bizzell, the only Sikeston team members with perfect records, maintained their unbeaten singles records.

Gail Strickland, recently moved from doubles to singles play, won her match impressively, Coach Schuerenberg noted.

Also, Susan Drumm won her second match in a row.

Individual scoring, with Sikeston girls listed first, included:

Jeannie Vines lost to Ann Vangilder, 8-3; Mary Lowney was defeated by Sara Jones, 10-8; Marilyn Neel was beaten by Tamm Price, 8-6; Lynn Bizzell topped Anitra McKee, 8-4; Gail Strickland won over Barbara Lovingood, 8-4; Cindy Davis lost to Teresa Ramsey, 8-4; and Mary Sikes defeated Susan Strom in a 5-1 tie- breaker and Susan Drumm beat Mary Colon in a 5-2 tie- breaker after their matches had ended in 8-8 standoffs.

In doubles play, the SHS No. 1 doubles team of Marilyn Neel and Deena Dollar lost, 8-4, to Tammy Price and Barbara Lovinggood.

The No. 2 doubles team, Lisa Eaves and Nancy Bohannon, won their first match of the season by taking a 5-1 tie- breaker after playing the Cape Central team of Susan Strom and Teresa Ramsey to an 8-8 tie.

The tie- breaking doubles match was played by SHS players Jeannie Vines and Melissa Lea, who were beaten by Ann Vangilder and Anitra McKee, 8-6, giving the victory to Cape Central.

The next match for the SHS team will be played here Thursday night against Kennett. Play will begin at 4 p.m. on the Sikeston High School and Central Park courts.

Mr. and Mrs. William James Kleusner

Miss Wells, Kleusner united in marriage

BENTON -- Miss Marilyn Jean Wells of Benton and William James Kleusner were united in marriage during a 2 p.m. ceremony Sept. 21 at the United Methodist Church. The Rev. Earl Statler, minister, performed the double- ring ceremony.

Miss Wells is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Wells of Benton, and Kleusner is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nobert Kleusner of New Hamburg.

Music was provided by Mrs. Lester Miller Jr. at the organ and Mrs. Tom Arnold at the piano. Mrs. Wallace Alden, the soloist, sang, "Today" and "The Wedding Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an all lace gown with high neckline and long sleeves which featured an apron effect in front and a ruffled train. A shoulder- length veil of sheer organza completed her attire. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses, white carnations and baby's breath.

The bride chose her sister, Mrs. Bill McClung of Lewisville, Tex., as matron of honor. Miss Sherilyn Diana Wells of Benton, sister of the bride, and Miss Mary Ann Blattel of New Hamburg were bridesmaids.

The matron of honor wore an emerald green, double knit, empire- styled gown. The bridesmaids' dresses were lime green in color and designed identically to the one worn by the matron of honor. Each carried a single yellow rose with yellow and green streamers.

Tina Milam of Benton was flower girl, and Michael Wayne Smith of Sandwich, Ill., was ringbearer.

John Blattel of Jefferson City, cousin of the groom, was best man. Norman Kleusner, brother of the groom, and Owen Dudley Wells III, brother of the bride, were groomsmen. Norman Glueck of New Hamburg and Noble Milam Jr. of Benton were ushers.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the American Legion Hall, which was decorated in the bride's chosen colors of yellow and green.

A three- tiered wedding cake graced the bride and goom's table.

Servers were Mrs. Wayne Smith of Sandwich, Ill., Mrs. Noble Milam and Mrs. Darlene Evans of Benton, Mrs. Al Milam of Jonesboro, Ill., and Mrs. Vernon Phillips of Oran.

Mrs. Hess Porter attended the guestbook.

The bride is a 1972 graduate of Kelly High School and attended Southeast Missouri State University in Cape Girardeau.

The groom, a 1970 graduate of Kelly High School and a 1974 graduate of Southeast Missouri State University, is a management trainee for Brown Group, Inc. The couple will live in Brookfield.

On Sept. 15, a miscellaneous shower was given in the lower auditorium of the United Methodist Church by Mrs. Hess Porter, Mrs. Lester Miller Jr., Mrs. Etta Frobase and Mrs. Alden Penny.

A rehearsal party was held Sept. 20 for the bridal party.

December wedding planned

ILLMO -- Mr. and Mrs. Wilford M. Raines announce the engagement of their daughter Twyla Renya to John R. Wilson of Cape Girardeau, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Burl Wilson of Campbell.

Miss Raines is a graduate of Illmo Scott City High School and is attending Southeast Missouri State University in Cape Girardeau.

Wilson is a graduate of Campbell High School, Three Rivers Community College in Poplar Bluff and Southeast Missouri State University. He is employed by the Illmo-Scott City school system as assistant basketball coach and math teacher.

A December wedding is planned.

Miss Davis, Perry to wed

ADVANCE -- Mr. and Mrs. Billy Dean Davis announce the engagement of their daugher Sheila Denise to Paul James Perry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul C. Perry of DeSoto.

Miss Davis is a student at Jefferson College in Hillsboro, and Perry is a graduate of the University of Missouri-Kansas City School of Pharmacy.

An October wedding is planned.

Sooners bid for lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ohio State held onto first place in The Associated Press college football rankings today, but withstood a charge by the runner-up Oklahoma Sooners.

The Buckeyes, who trounced Washington State 42-7 last weekend, received 33 first-place votes and 1,144 of a possible 1,220 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Oklahoma, the preseason poll leader, was named first on 24 ballots and accumulated 1,124 points in the wake of a 63-0 rout of Wake Forest.

Alabama and Michigan remained third and fourth. 'Bama defeated Mississippi 35-21 and pulled down one first-place vote and 958 points, while the Wolverines beat Stanford 27-16 and earned two No. 1 votes and 893 points.

The other first-place vote went to Auburn, which climbed from 11th to 10th with a 3-0 victory over Miami of Florida. The loss knocked the Hurricanes out of the Top Twenty.

Texas A&M, fifth last week, was jolted by Kansas 28-10 and skidded to 16th place. Meanwhile, Nebraska battered Minnesota 54-0 and moved up from sixth to fifth.

Notre Dame rose from seventh to sixth with a 19-14 triumph over Michigan State, and Southern California jumped from ninth to seventh by whipping Iowa 41-3.

North Carolina State, although it became the nation's only 5-0 team with a 24-20 victory over East Carolina, slipped from eighth to 11th. Florida turned back Louisiana State 2414 and advanced from 13th to eighth.

Rounding out the Top Ten are Texas Tech, a 14-13 winner over Oklahoma State, and Auburn. Last week, they were 10th and 11th, respectively.

The Second Ten consists of North Carolina State, Arizona, Wisconsin, Arkansas, Penn State, Texas A&M, Texas, Arizona, Kansas and Miami of Ohio.

Last week's Second Ten was Auburn, Arizona, Florida, Illinois, Penn State, Miami of Florida, Pitt, Arizona State, Texas and Arkansas.

Wisconsin moved back into the Top Twenty with a 59-20 rout of Missouri, while Kansas and Miami of Ohio made it for the first time this season. Miami beat Kentucky 14-10.

The Associated Press Top Twenty college football poll, with first-place votes in parentheses, season record and total points. Points tabulated on basis of 20-18-16-14-12-10-9-8-etc.:

Bulldog JV win 1st

The Sikeston Bulldog Jr. Varsity football team ended a three game losing streak here Monday night by shutting out the Dexter Bearcats 16-0.

The ball game was completely turned around in the third period after a scoreless battle throughout the first half. Dexter passed and ran for 30 yards into Bulldog territory but the receiver fumbled the ball and Sikeston recovered and ran the ball back deep into Dexter territory A few plays later Paul Bean plunged into the endzone for the TD. David Shell ran in for a two point conversion and a 8-0 lead.

Most of the game was played in the middle of the field as both teams kept trying to run up the middle at each other but the defense was too tough for both teams.

With less than a minute to play Sikeston scored again on a 60 yard run and added the extra points to win their first game of the season.

The varsity team hopes to end its losing string Friday when they face the Kennett Indians.

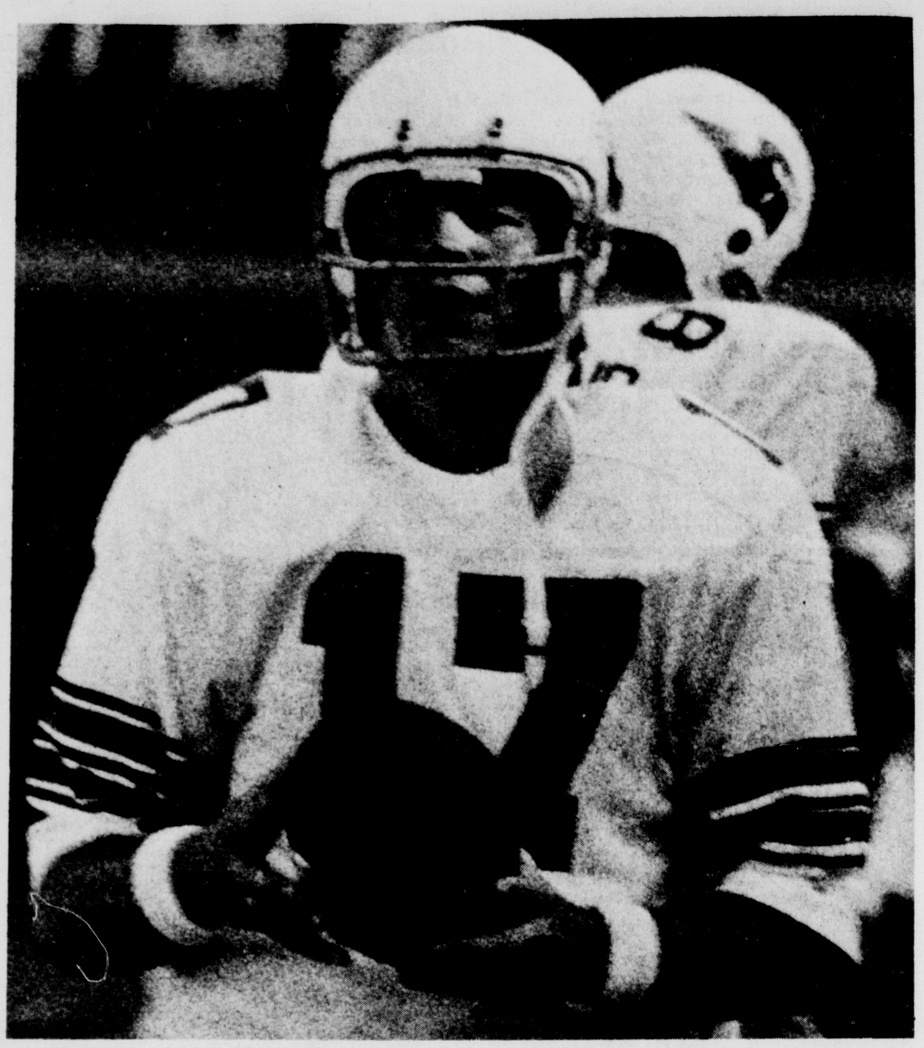
Schedule change

Sikeston High School Athletic Director Bob Buchannon announced today a change in the Freshman and eight grade football schedules.

The scheduled Jr. High game with Poplar Bluff on October 17th has been changed to Oct. 19th at 10:00 A.M. with both the eighth and 9th grade playing.

The 8th grade B team will play at Charleston October 22 at 4:00 p.m.

It was also announced that Kennett would charge admission to the junior high game Thursday.



Jim Hart (17) starts to warm his throwing arm up during a recent game. The Big Red Signal calling veteran is having his best season ever and the St. Louis Cardinals are off to their best start, winning their first four- games.

PB athletes star

POPLAR BLUFF — The City of Poplar Bluff, long time a great football community, can be proud of something that no one else can boast about in the area. They have two native sons in professional football and both doing very well.

Eddie Moss is a running back for the Football Cardinals in St. Louis and played some against the San Francisco 49'ers Sunday after recovering from an injury which had him sidelined for awhile.

The latest edition to the pro ranks is Derland Moore. Moore was an All-American for the Oklahoma Sooners. After graduation he was drafted by the New Orleans Saints of the National Football League.

Moore came into camp as a rookie two years ago with a hip pointer he received in the college All-Star game. He later received a knee injury in the fourth pre-season game and was forced to miss a month of action.

"I don't think I realized how important it was to be completely healthy", said the 6-4, 255- pound defensive tackle.

A starter at right tackle during most of the past pre-season Moore has continued to hold the post through the Saints' first three regular season outings. According to New Orleans' defensive line coach Bob Cummings, "Derland's making fine progress and that should continue. He's got great potential, size, strength and a desire to excel. He could be on the job for a long time."

"I'll play anywhere at any time," stated Derland, "but I sort of liked it a little better on the outside of the defensive line, where I didn't have to sift through so many people before finally locating the ballcarrier. There's not nearly as much traffic on the outside. It's also a lot easier to rush the passer from the end position.

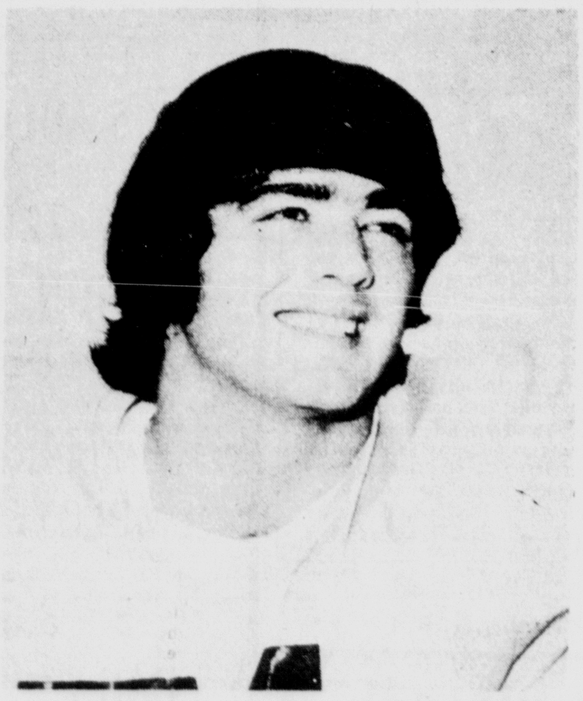
"One more thing. I thought I might be too heavy at my current weight, until I was introduced to blockers who out-weighed me by twenty pounds. There's nothing simple about life in the NFL."

Sports Briefs

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Pancho Gonzales is seeded first in the $25,000 Pebble Beach Senior Open Tennis Championships which begins here Thursday.

The finals are scheduled Sunday at the Pebble Beach courts.

Defending champion Pancho Segura, Vic Seixas, Frank Sedgman and Torben Ulrich are among the other seeded players.



Derland Moore, former All-America tackle from the University of Oklahoma and High School Mules star, is taking over at tackle for the New Orleans Saints in his second year of pro football. Derland is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Moore of Poplar Bluff.

Onofrio looks for NU upset

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Football Coach Al Onofrio of Missouri is wondering whether history will repeat itself.

"Two years ago," Onofrio recalled Monday during the Big Eight Conference telephone briefing, "we got beat bad by Nebraska and the next week we upset Notre Dame."

Missouri, battered by Wisconsin 59-20 last week, goes to Nebraska Saturday.

"I wish I knew what happened at Wisconsin," Onofrio said. "I'm baffled myself. I don't think the players were looking ahead to Nebraska.

"We've got to be physically, mentally and technically ready to play Nebraska. We know our players and know what they can do."

"I don't think the way Missouri played last week will have anything to do with what happens here Saturday," Osborne continued. "I'm sure Missouri will come up here and give a great effort."

Coach Bill Mallory of Colorado said the Buffs "are battered up" for their game with Iowa State.

"And our defense is still not a real good defense," Mallory added. "We've got a lot of respect for Iowa State. Like us, they lost their first two games and have come on strong since then. They've been shootin' for us."

Iowa State Coach Earle Bruce said he thinks Colorado's defense "is getting tougher" and said three Buffalo offensive stars, Dave Logan, Billy Waddy and David Williams "really jump out of the films at you."

Mike Strachan, Iowa State's great runner, will carry the ball more against the Buffs, Bruce said.

"On paper, I don't see how we can stop 'em," Coach Vince Gibson said of the Kansas Jayhawks, who invade K-State territory Saturday. "I hope they fumble."

Gibson said K-State quarterback Steve Grogan, bothered by a pinched nerve in his neck, is still ailing but that Grogan "will play against Kansas if he possibly can. I don't know what kind of shape we'll be in but we'll play good against Kansas."

Kansas, said Coach Don Fambrough, must be "at our very best mentally and physically" for the Wildcats. "When we play K-State, it's a unique game."

Oklahoma State has an open date Saturday, and Coach Jim Stanley and "it's welcome." Stanley reported that halfback Terry Miller will miss three or four weeks because of a fractured bone in his left knee and that Scott Burk, freshman quarterback, had to undergo surgery for a separated shoulder.

One nonconference game is on the schedule. Oklahoma, unbeaten and untied, travels to Dallas for its annual struggle with the Texas Longhorns.

"Earl Campbell of Texas is the best freshman back in the country," said Oklahoma Coach Barry Switzer. "He's awesome. Even if Roosevelt Leaks was healthy, I think he'd beat Leaks out. I never thought I'd see the day I'd rather play against Leaks than a freshman."

Both Switzer and Sooner quarterback Steve Davis indicated Oklahoma would increase the tempo of its passing game against the Longhorns.

"Texas is still the same type of team gainst the rushing game," said Switzer. "So you know what we'll do."

"People have not been able to run much against Texas this year," said Davis. "If they shut us off, we've got to go somewhere. The air's there. It scares me to go down that ramp in Texas more than anywhere in the world.

"I got hit by a beer can going down that ramp last year. Those people are crazy down there."

ATLANTA (AP) Starting guard Herm Gilliam will be lost to the Atlanta Hawks for six weeks after undergoing knee surgery to repair torn cartilage Monday, the National Basketball Association club said.

Gilliam, a five-year veteran from Purdue, who averaged 14.1 points a contest a year ago, injured his left knee in a workout three weeks ago and had not seen any action during the exhibition season.

SPORTS BEAT

By Bill Harrison

Daily Standard Sportswriter

High School basketball coaches throughout the state are happy this week as basketball practice officially begins its season week of drills since opening October 1 for non-football schools. Football schools begin drills Oct. 15.

I like all sports but there is something about a good basketball game that really turns me on.

I happen to think that basketball takes the most athletic skill of all sports because of the way it is played.

Many boys possess speed and hands to catch a ball or ability to hit a baseball but not many boys have the ability to run fast and handle a basketball at full speed and be able to fire the ball through the basketball goal with accuracy.

Every year the high school coaches start the season with their eye on the state championship. Season play means a lot to the coaches and players but everyone must admit that the regional and state tournament is their ultimate goal as season practice begins.

Area high school basketball should be better this season all- around than it has been in years.

There were some fine junior varsity players last season to move up this year after a summer to sharpen their roundball skills and many varsity teams were young last year and will have seasoned veterans to take the floor opening night.

Area fans will probably see the most balanced good teams that they have seen in quite a few years.

Last year Lilbourn and Kelly ran neck and neck as the top two teams in the area all season with Lilbourn proving to the fans that they were number one in the end.

Among the top teams will surely be Lilbourn again, New Madrid, North Pemiscot, Advance, Scott Central, Kelly, Oran should be stronger. Bloomfield, with the Jackson boys improving along with Steve Sharp from the junior varsity team, which lost only one game. Risco will field a veteran team with all- stater Andy Smelser leading the way.

Matthews and Notre Dame should be weaker this year as both teams suffered loss due to graduation. Parma was also a victim of graduation as Steve Gibson will be the only starter back from last years class A regional winner. Kennett will have a fine team as Coach Turlington always comes up with a contender.

Dexter should be improved over last year and some of the large schools such as Poplar Bluff and Sikeston and Cape Central will floor some good talent.

Sikeston had a fine junior varsity team last season led by 6-4 sophomore Mark Eaves and have the JV coach, Buddy Spear, to start the season with. Spears likes to play fastbreak basketball and a pressing full court defense which can be very effective. Cape Central lost Owen Suggs but will have 6-9 Stan Ray back and Chris Ford a good shooting guard.

There should be some fine competition for The Daily Standard top ten teams this season and there may not be but one undefeated team left by the time the regional tournaments roll around.

Mr. Basketball will be around for another exciting season in 1974-75 with his predictions so everyone will know who is going to win the game without even having to attend the games or reading The Daily Standard for the final outcome.

They're going to be hard to pick this year but since everyone around the basketball world knows I'm an expert we shouldn't have too much trouble.

There's one team that I'm going to pick to go undefeated this season straight through the state championship but I'm going to keep it a secret until the end.

Tournaments around the area should be something to behold this year as a lot of balance will be shown by all schools.

FOOTBALL

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. — The World Football League postponed games of the Detroit Wheels and Jacksonville Sharks this week and said the teams would fold within two days unless investors can be found.

OMAHA, Neb. — Johnny Rodgers, the 1972 Heisman Trophy winner from Nebraska, has signed a pledge to play seven more years for the Canadian Football League Montreal Alouttes for more than a million dollars.

BASKETBALL

PORTLAND, Ore. — Coach Lenny Wilkens of the Portland Trail Blazers will also become an active player for the National Basketball Association team as his playing rights were acquired from the Cleveland Cavaliers for undisclosed considerations.

GOLF

TOKYO — Third-seeded Maria Bueno of Brazil breezed past Japan's Toshiko Sade 6-1, 6-0 in an opening round match of the $100,000 Japan Open tennis championships.

DETROIT (AP) — Center Marcel Dionne was named captain of the Detroit Red Wings for the 1974-75 season, General Manager and Coach Alex Delvecchio announced Monday.

Dionne's appointment becomes effective in time for the National Hockey League season opener Wednesday night when the Wings face the Chicago Black Hawks at Olympia.

Last year Dionne, 23, led the team with 78 points. In his rookie year he set an NHL record for most points and returned in his sophomore year with 40 goals and 50 assists.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Steve Jones, a seven-year American Basketball Association veteran, has been signed as a free agent by the Spirits of St. Louis, the team has announced.

Hornets 'should' be SEMO power

BASKETBALL PREVIEW

ADVANCE -- After losing four starters and two being all- staters coach Carroll Cookson had to rebuild his Hornets in 1973 after finishing second in the state in class A and first in 1972.

Cookson started the season in lack- lustre manner as Scott Central surprised the Hornets with a quick full court man to man press and out ran the Hornets in the first game of the season. After that first loss coach Cookson got his boys rolling and only lost to teams in the top ten in the Daily Standard poll the rest of the regular season and upset the highly touted Puxico Indians twice before bowing the coach Pete Townsends warriors in the finals of the Stoddard County tournament in January.

Coach Cookson lost the services of promising junior Jo David Cummins in the middle of the season and had to revamp his lineup but some promising young sophomores on the junior varsity team, which lost only two games, both to the Bloomfield Wildcats tough JV squad, filled the holes and the Hornets began to jell as the season began to draw to a close.

The Hornets weren't expected to make much of a showing in the regional tournament at South Iron but by this time the Hornets were on the right track with Steve Cookson and Danny Long in the lineup giving the Hornets board strength and ball handling ability along with scoring punch which the Hornets lacked early in the season.

Advance went on the final four with relative ease but ran into some superior height and seemed to let the "big show" frighten them as they had little experience in the lineup.

Coach Cookson lost only two seniors off the entire squad and will be back in 1974-75 with a faster and better shooting team to try to take the class A state tournament for the second time in the past four years.

Returning to the Hornets' Nest will be 6-6 David "Stork" tropf. 6-2 Danny Long. 5-9 Ron Oller. 6-1 Brad Berry. 6-2 Jo David Cummins. 5-8 Steve Cookson. 5-7 Ronnie Veale. 5-8 Terry Hill.

All these boys except Cummins, who was injured, saw action in the regional all the way through their fourth place finish in the state.

Coach Cookson shouldn't be hurting at any position on the floor and the Hornets are loaded with talent through the first eight men.

Cookson and Veale can handle the ball with authority and give the Hornets good speed at the guard positions and have fine outside shooting ability. Both will be juniors at the start of the season. Ron Oller was the leading scorer for the Hornets along with Tropf last season and can play guard or forward. Oller possesses a great shooting touch from the corners. David Tropf can be an outstanding big man this season as a years experience will help him tremendously. Tropf surprisingly enough has a fine outside shooting eye and is outstanding from the free throw line. Long should be devastating from the forward position. He came on strong as a sophomore and with a summer's practice and a little more savvy he may average around 20 points a game. He is one of the area's top leapers at 6-2.

Cummins will find a place in the lineup somewhere as he has a fine shooting eye and gives the Hornets good board strength. He was averaging in double figures before a leg injury sidelined him.

Brad Berry came off the bench last year to give the Hornets good defense and reboundingand some added scoring power from the ten foot range. Terry Hill is a good shooter and after starring on the junior varsity team all season he saw some limited action in regional and state play. He possesses fine speed.

The Hornets look like they'll be as strong as anybody in the state next season barring any crippling injuries to the top eight boys.

Coach Cookson will have a newcomer to the team this year in Royce Yount, who played for Meadow Heights last season and was the Panthers top player.

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Coach Dan Milligan's CCHS Tigers should be the team to beat again this season with 6-9 Stan Ray at the center position for the second consecutive season.

Gone from the Central Tigers will be 6-6 Owen Suggs who was a fine shooter as well as rebounder.

Returning to the Tigers along with Ray will be guard Chris Ford. Ford is a good outside shooter with good speed.

The Tigers won the SEMO conference last year and edged Sikeston in the opening game of the class AAAA regional tournament here and went on the capture the regional championship but their offense failed to jell in the opening round of the state tournament at St. Louis and was eliminated.

Central's biggest problem will be to get enough scoring from someone other than Ray to win the games.

Bill Seabaugh will also be gone from the squad due to graduaton so the Tigers will lose another scoring threat.

EAST PRAIRIE — Coach Steve Doran has Donald Dixon in which to pin his 1974-75 basketball hopes on as two of the New Madrid County's best shooters have graduated after fine careers on the Eagle squad.

Steve Husk and Leroy Bradley, who were depended on to put the points on the scoreboard for East Prairie for the last two season will not be around to help out when the Eagles need scoring.

Dixon will probably be the man that opponents will have to concentrate their defense on.

There may be some prospects up from the junior varsity squad but they will have had to improve a lot over the summer vacation to replace the lost veterans.

It looks like a long season for Steve Doran and the Eagle fans.

DELTA — The DHS Bobcats are looking forward to a good season in 1974-75.

The Bobcats will sorely miss Carson Kelly, who was one of the best rebounders in the area and a fine inside shooter as well.

Returning to the lineup will be Mitch Stroder, a good outside shooter from the corner position. Mike Kelley will be back also to add some experience to the squad.

The Bobcats will have some fine junior varsity squad palyers coming up the varsity this seaosn to give Delta good potential.

Delta will have Keith Campbell, who was as good a shooter as anyone in the area on the junior varsity squad.

Delta will not have much height but should give their opponents plenty of problems with their ability to shoot.

MATTHEWS — Coach Carl Ritter has a rebuilding job to do at the helm of the MHS Pirates this season after a senior squad in 1973-74 failed to materialize after a good start.

Gone from the team this season are five seniors which carried the load for Matthews hopes of a state class A title in 1974.

Only one player, David Kenedy, will be returning this season with much experience at all.

David will be a senior and was a fine shooter last season until a foot injury hampered his style and he never regained his shooting eye which helped him average in double figures early in the 1973-74 campaign.

Coach Ritter will have to depend on some inexperienced players up from the junior varsity squad.

With veterans squads at New Madrid, Lilbourn, and Risco, the Pirates may end up in the cellar of the New Madrid County conference this season.

MORLEY — Coach Ronnie Cookson will have probably his best team since the Scott County Central high School Braves won the Class S regional four years ago.

The Braves like to run the fastbreak offense and play a full court press defense. They are quick and fast and have a year's experience behind them.

Kenny Bright at 6-2 can rebound with anyone in the area with his great jumping ability. All Kenny lacked last season was more consistency in his shooting. If Bright can improve in this department the Braves will be hard to beat this season.

Along with Bright will be Danny Peet who has speed and quickness. Coach Cookson has a couple of junior varsity players who will play an important roll in the teams success this season.

Otto Porter will be a junior and could become one of the best players in the area before he graduates. Coach Cookson promoted him to the varsity team the second half of last season and Porter was one of the teams leading scorers. Otto is a fine defensive player with good jumping ability. Another player that Cookson will be dependion heavily is James (Frog) Williams who will play guard and give the Braves some scoring from outside.

The Braves surprised some teams at the start of the season last year but faded toward the end but should be as strong as ever at the end this year.

PARMA — The Pirates won the Bloomfield regional the past two seasons but this year they have a new head coach in Wayne Early.

After a slow start last season coach Mark Rascher geared up his Pirates for the last half of the season and Parma was hard to beat down the stretch,

Like most other teams in the area Parma has a rebuilding job to do after the graduation of Rolly Perkins, Dick Ramsey and Rufus Barnes.

Coach Early will have to build around 6-3 Steve Gibons. Gibson is a fine shooter from the outside but with his jumping ability he must be counted on to take care of the inside area both in scoring and rebounding on defense.

The Pirates will be a small club compared with the past seasons and have a long way to go to equal their records of the past two seasons.

BENTON — Coach Nick Lanpher will have to rebuild his Kelly Hawks after narrowly missing a trip to the state AA finals in 1973-74.

Kelly won the Richland two consecutive seasons mainly behind the efforts of 6-3 Jeff Jackson. But Jackson has graduated along with guard Kenny Urhahn and now coach Lanpher must find a replacement for both players who were called on to lead the team last year.

Coach Lanphers first job will be to find a suitable replacement for Jackson which will be a very difficult if not impossible job. Jackson was without a doubt the team leader for the past two seasons. When the Hawks needed team leadership Jackson was the one the team turned to for the points or the defense. Jackson was known for his scoring but his big contribution was rebounding and getting the ball out on the fastbreak.

Urhahn was the ball handler and was the speed on the end of the fastbreak offense. The Hawks had trouble bringing the ball down the court against a full court press without Urhahn. Kenny was an outstanding shooter from the 15-18 foot range as well.

The Hawks must come up with a good replacement for Urhahn if they expect to repeat as the Richland regional champion in 1975.

Coach Lanpher does have some good talent returning to the lineup especially in 6-5 Russ Mothershead. Mothershead could possibly be the best big man in the area this season with a second year of experience under his belt.

Russ will have to take up the slack left by the graduation of Jackson. He will be the man that the Hawks must depend on for rebounding, defense and scoring inside.

Mike Brasher will be back at his guard position and he is a good shooter from the top of the key. Mike must be able to produce against one and one defenses better than last year.

Jamie Burger was the third guard last season and will probably be called upon to take the vacated spot left by the graduation of Urhahn. Burger, like Brasher is a good shooter from around the free throw line. Burger lacks experience and will have to work hard to take Urhahn's place.

Another player that coach Lanpher must get a lot of mileage from is Bob Felter. Felter was the third forward last season behind Jackson and Danny Kern. He lacked experience and made a few costly mistakes in crucial games.

Coach Lanpher is hoping he can mold his team into a winner by the time the regional tournaments roll around.

LILBOURN — The LHS Panthers are the defending champions of the state in class AA and will have two of their starters back this season to anchor the team in their quest for the defense of their title.

Gone from the Panthers state championship team will be Edward Farr, Claude McFerren and Carl Meadows. Perhsps the most missed from the team will be Meadows. Carl at 6-2 gave the Panthers good broad strength and scoring power. He was probably the most underrated player on the team.

Gone also will be coach Larry Warren who has had great success as the Panthers head mentor. Bob Phelps will be taking over the reins of the Panthers. Phelps has coached the Panthers junior varsity in the past and has had good success. Whether or not the Panthers will perform under the tutorship of another coach remains to be seen. There is certainly some fine talent left over from last years team. All-stater Frankie Robinson will be in his junior and with just a little improvement could be as good a player as is in the state for his size. Also returning will be Ernest McFerren who is the floor leader and a fine outside shot.

Loyd White will step in and fill the vacancy left by Farr and will give the Panthers rebounding and inside scoring. Detral Treadwell will be moving up to take over where Claude McFerren left off and he is a good shooter from the outside.

Lilbourn has always played a man to man defense under the helm of Warren — and will probably continue — to do so under Phelps. It remains to be seen if the newcomers have the defensive ability of the champions. Coach Phelps will have to search hard to come up with a replacement for Meadows though.

Perhaps some junior varsity players will be able to take up some of the slack as the Panthers always seem to have an abundance of talent on the B team. The JV squad has compiled a fantastic record over the past four years partly under the leadership of coach Phelps.

Rally set at Malden

MALDEN — A Teen Challenge rally at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Malden High School gymnasium will feature the Rev. Philip Breithaupt, the regional representative, and the New Creations from Mid-America Teen Challenge Training Center at Cape Girardeau in a program sponsored by the Malden Jaycees.

The New Creations is the official choir of the Mid-America Teen Challenge Center, and its members will share in music and testimony how they have found mental and physical cure from drug addiction through Christ. The choir members are former lawbreakers, drug addicts, alcoholics and other delinquent youth.

Rev. Mr. Breithaupt, the choir director, has served as tenor soloist with the Revivaltime choir on the ABC radio network and has recorded three LP albums. He has addressed civic clubs, high school assemblies, universities, student organizations and churches of many denominations in behalf of the Teen Challenge program.

The Jaycees said no admission will be charged.

THE RYATTS by Jack Elrod

Today in U. S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Tuesday, Oct. 8, the 281st day of 1974. There are 84 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1776, the Spanish mission at San Francisco was founded.

On this date in—

In 1871, the great Chicago fire was touched off in Mrs. O'Leary's barn.

In 1903, the United States and China signed a commercial treaty.

In 1934, Bruno Hauptmann was indicted for murder in the death of the infant son of Charles Lindbergh.

In 1945, President Harry Truman announced that the secret of production of the atomic bomb would be shared only with Britain and Canada.

In 1970, the controversial Soviet writer, Alexander Solzhenitsyn, was awarded the Nobel Prize for literature.

Ten years ago: Hurricane Dora hit a long stretch of Florida's east coast with 125-mile winds.

Five years ago: There was near-chaos in Montreal as police and firemen went on strike for higher pay, and army troops were called in to help keep order.

One year ago: The United States asked the U.N. Security Council to bring an end to fighting between Israel and neighboring Egypt and Syria.

Today's birthday: Black activist Jessie Jackson is 33.

Thought for today: The lazier a man is, the more he is going to do tomorrow — Norwegian proverb.

You don't have to wait till Halloween these days to get spooked easily.

Ann Landers

Teen says advice to 'numb' mother sound

Dear Ann Landers: In my opinion the advice you gave "Numb" (the mother who walked in on her 17-year-old daughter and her boyfriend and caught them in the act) was the most sound and practical answer I've ever read in your colmun. (I'm 17 and have been an Ann Landers fan for five years.)

You advised that mother to see to it that her daughter had an appointment with a doctor to discuss which birth control method would be best for her.

You went on and warned the mother against forbidding the girl from seeing the boy. You said it would create worse problems. You then made an astute comment: "A teenage girl who has experienced sexual intercourse is not about to stop just because her mother or Ann Landers tells her to."

Your conclusion, that the important thing was to make sure the girl didn't get pregnant, was practical and realistic.

I'm sure many mothers who read that column were upset by your answer, but I can tell you, Ann Landers, that every girl in our class was applauding you.

Not all high school girls are sleeping with their boyfriends, and you made it clear you weren't in any sense of the word condoning it. But for those who are, there is no way they can get their virginity back, so the best thing is to protect themselves against lousing up a few lives -- namely, a guy who doesn't want to get married, a girl who may be psychologically scarred for life by an abortion and a child born to a couple of kids who really don't want it. Although I speak for thousands, sign me -- A Senior At Central High

Dear Senior: Thank you for that nice letter. I received an unexpected number of bouquets from teenagers, both boys and girls, and surprisingly few stink weeds from parents. The long- discussed generation gap is beginning to close.

Dear Ann Landers: You've spoken out in behalf of supermarket check-out girls, telephone operators and post office clerks, all in the last few months. Will you please say a word to the brothers, sisters, aunts, uncles, cousins, parents and in-laws of women who are married to physicians in training?

This letter is written by four wives who need help. We average five calls per week from relatives who would like "the doctor" to please drop in to Room 210 and see how Mrs. Neighbor's Cousin is getting along.

What the family doesn't realize is that the physician-in- training is so busy with his own sick patients that in order to make "social" calls he has to give up his meal time or miss a lecture.

When our husbands are "on call" we don't see them for 48 hours at a stretch. They work hard, and the hours are grueling. You wouldn't believe how many relatives have them paged at the hospital to make special requests, which include, or course, what to do about the baby's cough or a sister-in-law's hangnail. Thanks for your help, Ann. -- Buffalo, New York

Dear Buff: Here's the letter. Now why don't you wives who have the problem make copies of this column and send them to the people who ought to see it? Is there no end to the number of gripers who want me to do their dirty work?!!!

There is a big difference between cold and cool. Ann Landers shows you how to play it cool without freezing people out in her booklet, "Teen-Age Sex -- Ten Ways to Cool It." Send 50 cents in coin and a long, self- addressed, stamped envelope to Ann Landers, P. O. Box 1400, Elgin, Illinois 60120.

What's the law?

The case of the redsky seizure

By: JACK STRAUSS, LL.B.

Harry was an American businessman who went to Russia and saw red. Particularly, when the Russian government seized his property, which was worth a lot of rubbles, and vetoed any effort on his part to get it back.

Furious, Harry returned to the United States and immediately sued the Russians for damages. And when he obtained a court order giving him contgol over Russian property in the United States out of which to satisfy his anticipated judgment, it was the Ressky's turn to see red.

"Such an order is illegal," they protested incourt. "A foreign government can't be sued without its consent and we consent not even to the time of day."

"They didn't ask my permission when they grabbed my property," was Harry's answer. "But now we're back in America where we've got laws. And, here, when a person's property is seized, he's entitled to damages. If the Russians don't like our system, they can go back to Moscow."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you permit Harry to continue his suit against the Russians?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that a foreign government, as asserted, cannot be sued in the United States without its consent. If an American citizen is wronged by a foreign government, noted the judge, the problem is political and not a matter for our courts.

LET'S STOP pampering the perpetrators of violence

Crimes of violence have spread until they blanket the country. There is no refuge to which the citizen can go for safety from criminal assaults and depredations.

The wave of lawlessness and violence is reaching dimensions that portend open rebellion against society and the rule of law. The law breaker – in all categories – including the habitual criminal enjoys greater immunities and protection than ever before.

Our crime rate increased by 148% in the past decade, while crimes solved by the police declined. Only about one out of 20 who commit major crimes is ultimately convicted and punished. Often the guilty escape punishment, and when convicted, the penalty is not commensurate with the gravity of their crime.

The debt and obligation that all law abiding citizens owe to our policemen is one that we can only partially pay by giving them our unstinting cooperation and good will.

We must stop coddling the criminals . . . the right of the citizens to BE SAFE transcends the right of the criminal to be free.

insight

by Larry Swaim

"Dear Mr. Swaim: I have friends who tell me that I should read the Old Testament in order to strengthen my faith, but to be truthful, I don't like the Old Testament. I'm not getting much out of it. It's difficult to read and understand."

I can't disagree with you that the Old Testament is difficult to read, especially some parts, but it is one of the most profitable studies one can make. It does require in-depth research. A superficial study will not do. I would advise you to first master the New Testament. You would be amazed at how it opens many doors of understanding. This can be applied to your Old Testament study.

But the law and the prophets pointed forward to Christ. Christ is revealed in prophecy in numerous places in the Old Testament. He is the sacrificial offering in Isaiah's ritual of worship referred to in John 1:29. In the book of Exodus, the Israelites were told to sprinkle the blood of the lamb on the door post and thus cause the angel of death to pass over their first born. This passover lamb represented Christ. Christ is the prophet foretold by Moses, the seed promised to Abraham by whom the earth would be blessed, and the everlasting king promised to David from his descendants, and the Messiah described by the prophets. The entire Bible speaks of Christ. As someone said, the New Testament is concealed in the Old, the Old Testament is revealed in the New.

Petition seeks end to work

NEW MADRID — The city council Monday night received a petition from over 100 property owners along the streets ofVandenvender, Pinnell, Russell, Brush Prairie, Hunter, Tennessee, Missouri, First and Second streets, requesting that proposed street paving and guttering previously voted by the council be discontinued.

The petition was presented by attorney David Mann, who said approximately 75 per cent of the property owners on the streets had signed the petition.

Boyd Masterson and Jackson Hunter, as property owners, also voiced their objections before the council.

The council referred the petition to city administrator Don Lloyd for validation of signatures and indicated they would reconsider the project if 75 per cent of the owners had objected.

Trash and garbage collection was discussed and the council was advised that some alleys have been graded and gravelled and trash pick-up can now be made from the rear of the residences along the alleys.

Masterson's Trash Service, contractor for the pick-up of trash and garbage, is to be contacted for inspection of the alleys and agreement to pick-up trash from them.

Administrator Lloyd told the council that the new city dog pound is nearly completed. He was authorized to negotiate with E. H. Hill for operation of the pound and as dogcatcher.

The present ordinance provides that dogs, when caught, must be kept for not less than two days nor more than 10 days before being humanely disposed of. If redeemed from the pound, the owner must pay a $5 charge, plus $1 per day board. If not licensed and vaccinated previously, the owner must have this done also.

The council was advised that the law firm of Blanton, Blanton, Rice and Sickal of Sikeston has filed a petition in Circuit Court requesting a declaratory judgment for the city against Associated Electric Cooperative Inc. for failure to deliver 10,000 kilowatts of electricity to the city as required by contract and asked for a judgment of $1,000 per month, beginning July 1, 1974, the first month the power should have been delivered.

Following adjournment, the council met in secret session.

9 treated

Nine accident patients were treated and released Monday in the emergency room of Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

to consider donating or leasing some city land to the workshop so a new building could be built.

B. W. Gunn, director of the workshop, told the council, the organization is now helping 85 people and has outgrown the present location at the city airport. In addition, he said, the old building now being used is a fire trap, difficult to heat and has been vandalized five times in the past five weeks.

Gunn said the workshop would need room for a 150 by 70 foot building, with ample space for parking. Most of the money for the new building would come from state and federal sources, he said.

The council asked Church and City Attorney Manuel Drumm to find a possible site and to consider the legal aspects of any such agreement.

PURCHASING

Church gave the council copies of purchasing regulations he has given to city department heads. Orders of less than $25 may be made by department heads if they are sure adequate funds are available and the purchase order is completed prior to the purchase, Church said.

Orders of $25 to $100 must be approved by the city clerk and orders exceeding $100 will require City Manager approval. Orders of more than $400 will require written bids.

UNITED WAY

Rev. Paul Walker, chairman of the United Way asked the council for a resolution in support of this year's fund drive. The council ordered a resolution be drawn up for its next meeting.

Walker said the kick off this year is Oct. 15 and the goal is $46,000.

The United Way supports 11 local agencies.

CITY BOARDS

Any member of a city board who misses four consecutive meetings will be automatically removed from that board under a resolution passed by the council.

The only exceptions are, if the member has been ill, out of state or has some other excuse the board decides is valid.

LIQUOR

The council granted the city's first two liquor by the drink licenses to the Holiday Inn and the El Capri. The licenses were issued under a state law which grants resorts the right to sell liquor by the drink. Both establishments fall under the law's definition of a resort.

The city received five other applications for licenses to sell alcholic beverages, but took no action. Mary A. Pac, 3.2 per cent beer, to sell at 839 W. Malone Ave.; Shirley Keegan, five per cent beer, to sell at a Mexican food restaurant to be located in place of the Park-A-Lot drive in; Dewayne Reeves, 3.2 per cent beer at Liberty Super Market; Steve Woods, 3.2 per cent beer, Quick Chek Market, 1801 E. Malone Ave.; Elmer L. Oliver, package liquor license.

OTHER ITEMS

Church said See Mor Cable TV had requested that its payment on its franchise fee be delayed. Church said he had informed the company that the delay was not allowed under the city's contract.

Charles Stamp Jr., has been named assistant city attorney. He recently joined the law firm of City Attorney Manuel Drumm.

Church said the fire department has been given the old radio used by the Scott County Sheriff's department. The radio will be used as the department base radio and is located at the Greer Street fire house.

The council appointed Walter Bizzell, 306 Powers, to the park board to replace Buddy Clayton who has resigned.

and the actual day of the murder.

Sheriff Scott told The Daily Standard that the estimated time of death was between 8 and 9 a.m. on Sept. 8, and quoted his figures from the autopsy report.

At about 10 a.m. Sept. 8, several people say they saw Dr. Garrison on the boat dock at Pickwick Lake in Tishomingo County, Miss., which is less than two hours after the reported time of death (and possibly as soon as one hour after). Pickwick Lake is more than 200 miles from Kennett.

Another point in the doctor's favor is that the Kennett authorities theorized that Mrs. Garrison's assailant was wounded in the struggle that left her dead. The amount of blood left by the assailant as he left the premises suggests that he was severely wounded.

Yet, when Dr. Garrison was seen by residents of Corinth in the hours immediately following the murder, no one noticed that he was hurt in any way ... and when the FBI arrested the doctor, they reportedly examined him without finding wounds of any type, according to Farese.

At 10 a.m. Thursday, the question of Dr. Garrison's return to Missouri will be decided at an extradition hearing to be conducted in the offices of Mississippi Gov. Bill Waller in Jackson, Miss.

The hearing will not decide the doctor's ultimate fate. If extradited, he will face trial in Missouri at a later date to determine his actual guilt or innocence.

If extradition is denied, Garrison will still be unable to leave Mississippi, unless state and local charges are dropped, in the event of further extradition attempts by the state of Missouri.

At one time, Dr. Garrison faced federal charges, also, but the FBI dropped the charges several days later.

"The children have borne all this very well," said the doctor. "They're all right now." He fell silent, seemingly lost in thought.

"They are staying with my parents now," Dr. Garrison said.

The family thought it best that the children be given an environment as near normal as possible, one away from all thoughts of the crime. For this reason, and because of the warrant for Dr. Garrison's arrest in Kennett, neither the doctor nor his children were able to attend Mrs. Garrison's funeral.

Since the murder, Garrison has been plagued with self- recrimination. "I can't help but feel that if it weren't for our divorce, none of this would have happened," he reportedly told acquaintances in Mississippi.

"If I had still been there, she might never have gotten involved with the person who took her life. I hope they do catch the real murderer. He deserves to suffer the way my children have."

Following lunch at the home of his chief counsel, (Farese), the doctor rose from the table, fumbling in his pocket for a cigarette, and said, "Mrs. Farese, thank you for your very fine dinner and for your hospitality. I'm sorry I have to leave now, but I've a patient who's going to have a baby this afternoon, and I must get back ... Goodbye, and thank you all."

Farese left with the doctor and returned a few minutes later. "You wouldn't believe the doctor is only 32 years old," he said softly. "In one month he has aged 10 years. It's been quite a year for that poor family."

before and, from my experiences in the past, I know that he would not be misled."

"After conducting the test, he stated that, in his professional opinion, Dr. Garrison was truthful in stating that he was not in any way involved in his ex-wife's murder."

In Farese's opinion, the authorities acted a little too hastily in accusing the doctor. The warrant was issued against Dr. Garrison the afternoon of the day Mrs. Garrison's body was found.

The most important point in Garrison's favor is that quite a few people maintain they were with him in Mississippi on the day before
